00. Read the source and answer the question.

I also ask this Congress for authority and for funds sufficient to manufacture additional munitions and war supplies of many kinds, to be turned over to those nations which are now in actual war. . . . Our most useful and immediate role is to act as an arsenal for them as well as for ourselves. They do not need man power, but they do need billions of dollars worth of the weapons of defense.

— President Franklin D. Roosevelt, "Four Freedoms Speech," 1941

In this source, President Roosevelt was responding to

- A. the need to provide jobs to the unemployed.
- B. the use of biological weapons on allies.
- C. the aggressive actions of totalitarian nations.
- D. the increase in communist revolutions.

00. Read the source and answer the question.

The absence of effective State, and, especially, national, restraint upon unfair money-getting has tended to create a small class of enormously wealthy and economically powerful men, whose chief object is to hold and increase their power. The prime need is to change the conditions which enable these men to accumulate power which it is not for the general welfare that they should hold or exercise. We grudge no man a fortune which represents his own power and sagacity [wisdom], when exercised with entire regard to the welfare of his fellows. . . . We grudge no man a fortune in civil life if it is honorably obtained and well used. It is not even enough that it should have been gained without doing damage to the community. We should permit it to be gained only so long as the gaining represents benefit to the community.

— President Theodore Roosevelt, 1910

Which statement best summarizes President Roosevelt's position on the concentration of wealth?

- A. Individual accumulation of wealth should be illegal.
- B. Individual success should also advance society.
- C. Income taxes on large fortunes should be abolished.
- D. Laws should be passed to redistribute wealth.

00. Read the source and answer the question.

The diplomacy of the present administration . . . has been characterized as substituting dollars for bullets. It is one that appeals alike to idealistic humanitarian sentiments, to the dictates of sound policy and strategy, and to legitimate commercial aims. It is an effort frankly directed to the increase of American trade upon the axiomatic principle that the government of the United States shall extend all proper support to every legitimate and beneficial American enterprise abroad.

— President William Howard Taft, 1912

Which statement best compares this policy to the earlier policy of President Theodore Roosevelt?

- A. Both suggested that U.S. business interests were of greater concern than national security.
- B. Both emphasized the need to prohibit South American trade with nations other than the United States.
- C. Both claimed that governing South American nations was beneficial to the United States.
- D. Both advanced the view that stability of U.S. business interests abroad was a national goal.

- 00. Which two events occurred during the administration of President George H.W. Bush from 1989 to 1993?
- A. The United States invaded Grenada to overthrow the communist government.
 - B. The U.S. military withdrew troops as part of the “Vietnamization” policy.
 - C. The U.S. military launched “Operation Just Cause” to remove a dictator in Panama.
 - D. The United States initiated a withdrawal of military forces from Lebanon.
 - E. U.S. troops entered the Gulf War in response to the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait.

- 00. Which statement explains why there were objections to New Deal programs?
- A. The New Deal gave unprecedented economic power to the federal government.
 - B. The New Deal did not place restrictions on the stock market.
