

AP[®] United States History Practice Exam

From the 2015 Administration

NOTE: This is a modified version of the 2015 AP United States History Exam. The exam was administered worldwide in May 2015. The free-response questions from this exam were posted on the College Board website in May 2015. The questions in this exam were administered prior to the publication of a revised edition of the Course and Exam Description in July 2015. Beginning in May 2016, the AP United States History Exam will align to those revisions.

This Practice Exam is provided by the College Board for AP Exam preparation. Teachers are permitted to download the materials and make copies to use with their students in a classroom setting only. To maintain the security of this exam, teachers should collect all materials after their administration and keep them in a secure location. Exams may not be posted on school or personal websites, nor electronically redistributed for any reason. Further distribution of these materials outside of the secure College Board site disadvantages teachers who rely on uncirculated questions for classroom testing. Any additional distribution is in violation of the College Board's copyright policies and may result in the termination of Practice Exam access for your school as well as the removal of access to other online services such as the AP Teacher Community and Online Score Reports.

UNITED STATES HISTORY

SECTION I, Part A

Time—55 minutes

49 Questions

Directions: Each of the questions or incomplete statements below is followed by four suggested answers or completions. Select the one that is best in each case and then fill in the corresponding circle on the answer sheet.

Questions 1 - 3 refer to the excerpt below.

“The reason why we find ourselves in a position of impotency is not because our only powerful potential enemy has sent men to invade our shores . . . but rather because of the traitorous actions of those who have been treated so well by this Nation. It has not been the less fortunate, or members of minority groups who have been traitorous to this Nation, but rather those who have had the benefits that the wealthiest Nation on earth has had to offer . . . the finest homes, the finest college education, and the finest jobs in government we can give. This is glaringly true in the State Department. There the bright young men who are born with silver spoons in their mouths are the ones who have been most traitorous.”

Senator Joseph McCarthy, speech in Wheeling, West Virginia, 1950

1. The claims McCarthy made in the speech heightened debates over which of the following issues?
 - (A) Policies and methods to root out possible communists within the United States
 - (B) The emergence of a military-industrial complex in the United States
 - (C) The expansion of the United States nuclear arsenal
 - (D) United States intervention in the Korean War
2. The political climate during McCarthy’s era had the most in common with which of the following?
 - (A) The efforts to limit immigrants’ political and economic power in the 1840s and 1850s
 - (B) The attacks on radicals and immigrants following the First World War
 - (C) The isolationism in United States foreign policy during the 1930s
 - (D) The decline in public confidence and trust in government in the 1970s
3. McCarthy’s accusations in the excerpt best reflect which of the following?
 - (A) Support for seeking new Cold War allies among nonaligned nations
 - (B) Resistance to efforts to achieve racial desegregation
 - (C) Ideological concerns over United States involvement in the Middle East
 - (D) Anxieties about Soviet influence at home and abroad

Questions 4 - 6 refer to the 1966 cartoon below by Bill Mauldin.

THE STRATEGISTS

Copyright by Bill Mauldin (1966). Courtesy of the Bill Mauldin Estate LLC.

4. The situation depicted in the cartoon came into existence as a result of the pursuit of which of the following policy goals?
- (A) Decolonization in Asia
 - (B) Containment of communism
 - (C) Détente with China and the Soviet Union
 - (D) Nuclear supremacy
5. The cartoon was primarily a response to the
- (A) increasing popularity of isolationism among United States policy makers
 - (B) ongoing controversy over the appropriate use of executive branch authority in conducting foreign policy
 - (C) expanding opposition to the Korean War
 - (D) growing debate over the Vietnam War

6. The issues depicted in the cartoon most closely resemble which of the following issues facing the United States in the nineteenth century?
- (A) Whether to acquire new territory in the Western Hemisphere and the Pacific
 - (B) Whether to limit migration from other countries
 - (C) Whether to allow slavery to expand to newly acquired territories
 - (D) Whether to compromise with Southern leaders to avoid civil war

Questions 7 - 9 refer to the excerpt below.

“Mr. Jay’s treaty [which reestablished trade and diplomatic relations between the United States and Great Britain following the Revolutionary War] has at length been made public. So general a burst of dissatisfaction never before appeared against any transaction. Those who understand the particular articles of it, condemn these articles. Those who do not understand them minutely, condemn it generally as wearing a hostile face to France. This last is the most numerous class, comprehending the whole body of the people, who have taken a greater interest in this transaction than they were ever known to do in any other. It has in my opinion completely demolished the monarchical party here.”

Thomas Jefferson, letter to James Monroe, September 6, 1795

7. Which of the following was an important consequence of the debate over the Jay Treaty?
- (A) The United States adopted a policy of isolationism.
 - (B) Sectional tensions between the West and the South increased.
 - (C) Federalists introduced legislation in Congress to establish a constitutional monarchy on the British model.
 - (D) Strong disagreements over policy promoted the development of political parties.
8. Thomas Jefferson’s reaction to the Jay Treaty as expressed in the letter was most directly a reflection of ongoing debates in the United States over
- (A) economic policy
 - (B) expansion to the west
 - (C) the impact of the French Revolution
 - (D) the return of a monarchy
9. Which of the following was a reason the United States government believed it necessary to negotiate a treaty with Great Britain following the American Revolution?
- (A) British activities and landholdings in North America were an impediment to western settlement and peace along the frontier.
 - (B) Northerners hoped that Britain’s antislavery position would pressure southern states to abolish slavery.
 - (C) The Washington administration wanted to improve relations to encourage France to sell the Louisiana Territory.
 - (D) The government wanted to mediate a better relationship between France and Britain to help bring peace to the European continent.

Questions 10 - 11 refer to the graph below.

ESTIMATE OF NATIVE AMERICAN
POPULATION IN THE TERRITORY
THAT BECAME THE
UNITED STATES, 1492–1750

10. Which of the following contributed most to the changes shown in the graph?
- (A) Loss of territory and access to natural resources
 - (B) The introduction of new plants and animals
 - (C) The introduction of new diseases
 - (D) Warfare with Europeans
11. Which of the following was the most direct effect of the changes shown in the graph?
- (A) European settlers relied mainly on indentured servants and enslaved Africans for labor.
 - (B) Trade between European settlers and Native Americans expanded.
 - (C) Conflicts among Native American groups became more intense.
 - (D) European settlers were able to gain control over Native American lands.

Questions 12 – 14 refer to the excerpt below.

“The Vigilance Committee of Boston inform you that the MOCK TRIAL of the poor Fugitive Slave has been further postponed. . . .

Come down, then, Sons of the Puritans: for even if the poor victim is to be carried off by the brute force of arms, and delivered over to Slavery, you should at least be present to witness the sacrifice, and you should follow him in sad procession with your tears and prayers, and then go home and take such action as your manhood and your patriotism may suggest.

Come, then, by the early trains on MONDAY, and rally. . . . Come with courage and resolution in your hearts; but, this time, with only such arms as God gave you.”

Proclamation addressed “To the Yeomanry of New England,” Boston, 1854

12. The proclamation most clearly provides evidence for which of the following?
- (A) The spreading of violence associated with the Kansas-Nebraska Act
 - (B) The failure of the Compromise of 1850 to lessen sectional tensions
 - (C) The abolitionist roots of the Republican Party
 - (D) The absence of racism in antebellum New England
13. The sentiments expressed in the proclamation would have been most widely condemned by White residents of
- (A) coastal South Carolina
 - (B) northern California
 - (C) western New York
 - (D) western Virginia
14. The issuing of documents such as the proclamation generally had which of the following effects?
- (A) Accumulating support for the theory of slavery as a positive good
 - (B) Encouraging armed rebellions by enslaved people in the South
 - (C) Increasing the visibility of organized opposition to slavery
 - (D) Improving relations between native-born residents and recent Catholic immigrants

Questions 15 - 17 refer to the excerpt below.

“We believe that the Negro should adopt every means to protect himself against barbarous practices inflicted upon him because of color.

“We believe in the freedom of Africa for the Negro people of the world, and by the principle of Europe for the Europeans and Asia for the Asiatics, we also demand Africa for the Africans at home and abroad. . . .

“We strongly condemn the cupidity of those nations of the world who, by open aggression or secret schemes, have seized the territories and inexhaustible natural wealth of Africa, and we place on record our most solemn determination to reclaim the treasures and possession of the vast continent of our forefathers.”

Marcus Garvey, Declaration of Rights of the Negro Peoples of the World, adopted at the first convention of the Universal Negro Improvement
Association (UNIA), August 1920

15. Which of the following most plausibly influenced Garvey’s argument in the excerpt?
- (A) The emerging support for United States intervention in the affairs of Asia and Latin America
 - (B) Calls for integration of the United States armed forces
 - (C) New cultural expressions that emerged from the Harlem Renaissance
 - (D) The concept of self-determination debated at the Treaty of Versailles peace talks
16. The ideas expressed in Garvey’s declaration drew the most significant support from which of the following?
- (A) Presidents favoring colonization efforts
 - (B) Participants in the Great Migration
 - (C) Urban Progressive reformers
 - (D) Former slaves
17. Which of the following later movements held ideas closest to those expressed by Garvey in the excerpt?
- (A) A. Philip Randolph’s organizing of Black railroad workers into the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters
 - (B) Thurgood Marshall and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People’s legal efforts to desegregate schools in Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka
 - (C) Martin Luther King, Jr.’s efforts to win equal rights for African Americans through nonviolent civil disobedience
 - (D) Malcolm X’s Black nationalism emphasizing racial pride and economic self-sufficiency

Questions 18 - 21 refer to the map below.

GROWTH OF THE UNITED STATES, 1783–1853

18. Which of the following was a common justification in the United States for the trend depicted in the map?
- (A) The interest in greater access to trade with the British colonies in the Americas
 - (B) The desire for better relations with Mexico
 - (C) The intention to assimilate Plains Indians into White society
 - (D) The belief in White cultural and political superiority
19. In the mid-nineteenth century, the process shown in the map was advocated by supporters of which of the following ideologies?
- (A) Republicanism
 - (B) Abolitionism
 - (C) Progressivism
 - (D) Manifest Destiny

20. The trend shown in the map led most directly to which of the following?
- (A) A decreasing gap in wealth because land ownership increased among White citizens
 - (B) Decreasing tensions between White settlers and Native Americans because expanded United States territory undercut competition
 - (C) Increasing divisions between North and South because of questions about the status of slavery in new territories
 - (D) Increasing legal immigration for Asians because the United States became a Pacific Rim country
21. The ideology that supported the trend depicted in the map is most similar to the ideology that supported which of the following?
- (A) Opposition to the international slave trade
 - (B) Involvement in the Spanish-American War
 - (C) Participation in the First World War
 - (D) Isolationism prior to the Second World War

Questions 22 - 25 refer to the 1891 cartoon below.

“A PARTY OF PATCHES”

Kansasmemory.org, Kansas State Historical Society, Copy and Reuse Restrictions Apply

22. The cartoon suggests that the disparate groups that favored the People's (Populist) Party typically shared which of the following?
- (A) The idea that wealthy people had some obligation to help people living in poverty
 - (B) Belief in a stronger federal government role in the United States economic system
 - (C) Support for United States expansionism
 - (D) Advocacy of individual rights
23. The People's (Populist) Party emerged most directly in response to which of the following late-nineteenth-century trends?
- (A) The efforts of businesses to gain control over markets and resources abroad
 - (B) The influx of migrants from Asia and southern and eastern Europe
 - (C) The growth of corporate power in agriculture and the economy
 - (D) The development of political machines
24. Which of the following groups would be most likely to support the Populist Party?
- (A) Sharecroppers
 - (B) Industrialists
 - (C) Immigrants
 - (D) Bankers
25. The cartoonist most likely supported
- (A) reform of local government
 - (B) women's political equality
 - (C) redistribution of wealth
 - (D) government policies favoring corporations

Questions 26 - 28 refer to the excerpt below.

“We are the people of this generation, bred in at least modest comfort, housed now in universities, looking uncomfortably to the world we inherit.

“When we were kids, the United States was the wealthiest and strongest country in the world; the only one with the atom bomb, the least scarred by modern war, an initiator of the United Nations. . . .

“As we grew, however, our comfort was penetrated by events too troubling to dismiss. . . .

“The conventional moral terms of the age, the politician moralities—‘free world,’ ‘people’s democracies’ reflect realities poorly, if at all, and seem to function more as ruling myths than as descriptive principles. . . .

“The bridge to political power, though, will be built through genuine cooperation, locally, nationally, and internationally, between a new left of young people, and an awakening community of allies.”

Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), Port Huron Statement, 1962

26. Which of the following post-1945 developments contributed most strongly to the discomfort that members of SDS felt?
- (A) The efforts of Congress to adopt legislation to deal with domestic social problems
 - (B) The disillusionment with United States domestic values and Cold War events
 - (C) The Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka decision on school desegregation
 - (D) The support for collective security through international organizations
27. SDS best exemplifies which of the following?
- (A) The success of the Civil Rights movement in achieving greater racial integration
 - (B) The development of new concerns about environmental pollution and the overuse of natural resources
 - (C) The increased influence of conservatives who opposed expansive social welfare policies and higher taxes
 - (D) The emergence of radical groups claiming that liberals were doing too little to address racial and economic inequality
28. What did SDS have most in common with the youth counterculture of the 1960s?
- (A) A rejection of many of the values of their parents’ generation
 - (B) A commitment to reforming society through direct political action
 - (C) A desire to remove themselves from mainstream society and experiment with drugs
 - (D) A determination to establish gender equality throughout the United States

Questions 29 - 31 refer to the excerpt below.

“Thus, fellow citizens, have I pointed out what I thought necessary to be amended in our Federal Constitution. I beg you to call to mind our glorious Declaration of Independence, read it, and compare it with the Federal Constitution; what a degree of apostacy will you not then discover. Therefore, guard against all encroachments upon your liberties so dearly purchased with the costly expense of blood and treasure.”

A Georgian, Gazette of the State of Georgia, November 15, 1787

29. The opinion expressed in the excerpt would most likely have been held by
- (A) an advocate of republican motherhood
 - (B) an Anti-Federalist
 - (C) a Loyalist
 - (D) an abolitionist
30. Which of the following factors contributed most directly to the views expressed in the excerpt?
- (A) The limitations placed on the federal government by the Articles of Confederation
 - (B) The fear of excessive centralized authority
 - (C) The efforts made to increase economic growth in the new nation
 - (D) The desire to settle new territory controlled by American Indians
31. The views expressed in the excerpt contributed most directly to
- (A) the addition of the Bill of Rights shortly after the Constitution was adopted
 - (B) a series of rebellions and revolutions in France, Haiti, and Latin America
 - (C) the elimination of the international slave trade
 - (D) the creation of a strong central government

Questions 32 - 33 refer to the excerpt below.

“There remains, then, only one mode of using great fortunes; but in this we have the true antidote for the temporary unequal distribution of wealth, the reconciliation of the rich and the poor—a reign of harmony. . . . Under its sway we shall have an ideal state, in which the surplus wealth of the few will become, in the best sense, the property of the many, because administered for the common good, and this wealth, passing through the hands of the few, can be made a much more potent force for the elevation of our race than if it had been distributed in small sums to the people themselves. Even the poorest can be made to see this, and to agree that great sums gathered by some of their fellow-citizens and spent for public purposes, from which the masses reap the principal benefit, are more valuable to them than if scattered among them through the course of many years in trifling amounts.”

Andrew Carnegie, “Wealth,” 1889

32. The “temporary unequal distribution of wealth” that Carnegie refers to in the excerpt resulted most directly from the
- (A) growth of cities in both size and number
 - (B) consolidation of corporations into trusts and holding companies
 - (C) efforts by workers to organize local and national unions
 - (D) government policy of reducing tariffs to promote free trade
33. Which of the following policies would Carnegie most likely have supported?
- (A) The use of federal power to redistribute wealth
 - (B) Government creation of jobs for unemployed people
 - (C) Increased regulation of corporations
 - (D) Laissez-faire economics

Questions 34 - 36 refer to the excerpt below.

“In 1680 Pueblo leaders united most of their communities against the European intruders. . . . In a matter of weeks, the Pueblos had eliminated Spaniards from New Mexico above El Paso. The natives had killed over 400 of the province’s 2,500 foreigners, destroyed or sacked every Spanish building, and laid waste to the Spaniards’ fields. There could be no mistaking the deep animosity that some natives, men as well as their influential wives and mothers, held toward their former oppressors. . . . Some Pueblo leaders . . . urged an end to all things Spanish as well as Christian. After the fighting subsided, they counselled against speaking Castilian or planting crops introduced by the Europeans.”

David J. Weber, historian, The Spanish Frontier in North America, 1992

34. Which of the following most shaped the events described in the excerpt?
- (A) The establishment of African slavery in the Spanish colonies
 - (B) The demands of the encomienda system in the Spanish colonies
 - (C) The amount of Spanish intermarriage with Native Americans
 - (D) The importance of Old World crops to the subsistence of Spanish colonial subjects
35. The conflict described in the excerpt led primarily to which of the following changes in Spanish colonial policy?
- (A) Scaling back of the Spanish presence in North America
 - (B) Widespread use of warfare to maintain control of Native Americans
 - (C) Removal of Native Americans to reservations
 - (D) Greater accommodation to Native American cultures
36. English colonization patterns in North America differed most from Spanish colonization in that the English
- (A) more often settled as families and rarely intermarried with Native Americans
 - (B) relied more on coerced labor from Native Americans
 - (C) enjoyed relatively peaceful relations with Native Americans
 - (D) adopted some of Native Americans’ more egalitarian views on the roles of women

Questions 37 - 39 refer to the excerpts below.

“I conceive there lies a clear rule . . . that the elder women should instruct the younger and then I must have a time wherein I must do it.

“If any come to my house to be instructed in the ways of God what rule have I to put them away?”

“The power of the Holy Spirit dwelleth perfectly in every believer, and the inward revelations of her own spirit, and the conscious judgment of her own mind are of authority paramount to any word of God.”

Anne Hutchinson, 1630s

37. The excerpts from Anne Hutchinson best represent which of the following developments in the Massachusetts Bay Colony in the 1630s?
- (A) Growing challenges by dissenters to civil authorities
 - (B) Efforts to raise the level of education for young girls and women
 - (C) Growing disagreement over the expansion of legal rights in the colonial charter
 - (D) Efforts by colonial women to establish independent communities separate from men
38. The ideas expressed in the excerpts have the most in common with which of the following?
- (A) The Civil Rights movement of the 1960s, when African American women asserted their right to vote in federal elections
 - (B) The flapper culture of the 1920s, when women challenged gender roles through dress
 - (C) The women’s liberation movement of the 1970s, when women sought to achieve gender equality in the workplace
 - (D) The antislavery movement of the 1840s, when women asserted their right to speak on behalf of the cause
39. The emphasis on personal salvation, which Hutchinson articulated in the 1630s, was most strongly echoed in which later movement?
- (A) Second Great Awakening in the 1830s
 - (B) Social Gospel in the 1890s
 - (C) Anticommunism in the 1950s
 - (D) New conservatism in the 1980s

Questions 40 - 43 refer to the excerpt below.

“Americans faced an overwhelming task after the Civil War and emancipation: how to understand the tangled relationship between two profound ideas—healing and justice. . . . [T]hese two aims never developed in historical balance. One might conclude that this imbalance between outcomes of sectional healing and racial justice was simply America’s inevitable historical condition. . . . But theories of inevitability . . . are rarely satisfying. . . . The sectional reunion after so horrible a civil war was a political triumph by the late nineteenth century, but it could not have been achieved without the resubjugation of many of those people whom the war had freed from centuries of bondage. This is the tragedy lingering on the margins and infesting the heart of American history from Appomattox to World War I.”

David W. Blight, historian, Race and Reunion: The Civil War in American Memory, 2001

40. One key change immediately following the Civil War aimed at achieving the “racial justice” that Blight describes was the
- (A) establishment of a constitutional basis for citizenship and voting rights
 - (B) creation of new agencies to ensure racial integration in employment
 - (C) campaign by the federal government to eliminate poverty
 - (D) desegregation of the United States armed forces
41. Which of the following most directly supports Blight’s argument in the excerpt?
- (A) The Supreme Court decision in Plessy v. Ferguson
 - (B) The election of seventeen African Americans to Congress between 1869 and 1877
 - (C) The industrialization of some segments of the southern economy in the late nineteenth century
 - (D) The emergence of the first national civil rights organizations, such as the Afro-American League and the NAACP
42. Which of the following best explains the reason for the reconciliation described by Blight?
- (A) Mass immigration from abroad and internal migration of African Americans reduced racial tensions in the North and South.
 - (B) The federal government established a limited social welfare state that reduced regional differences between the North and South.
 - (C) Efforts to change southern racial attitudes and culture ultimately failed because of the South’s determined resistance and the North’s waning resolve.
 - (D) The theory of Social Darwinism encouraged political and business leaders to reduce efforts to create racial equality in the South.

43. Which of the following best characterizes the “sectional reunion” Blight describes?
- (A) Gilded Age financial policies encouraged economic growth in the North and the South.
 - (B) The federal government removed troops from the South and eliminated aid for former slaves.
 - (C) New political alliances united northern and southern members of the Democratic Party to win control of both houses in Congress.
 - (D) White laborers in the North and African American farmers in the South joined together in the Populist movement.

Questions 44 - 46 refer to the excerpt below.

“I said everything to them I could to divert them from their idolatries, and draw them to a knowledge of God our Lord. Moctezuma replied, the others assenting to what he said, that they had already informed me they were not the aborigines of the country, but that their ancestors had emigrated to it many years ago; and they fully believed that after so long an absence from their native land, they might have fallen into some errors; that I having more recently arrived must know better than themselves what they ought to believe; and that if I would instruct them in these matters, and make them understand the true faith, they would follow my directions, as being for the best. Afterwards, Moctezuma and many of the principal citizens remained with me until I had removed the idols, purified the chapels, and placed the images in them, manifesting apparent pleasure.”

Letter from Hernán Cortés to Charles V, Holy Roman Emperor and King of Spain, on his interaction with the Mexica (Aztecs), 1520

44. The interaction between Cortés and Moctezuma most strongly demonstrates Cortés’
- (A) desire for increased power and status
 - (B) support for the European shift from feudalism to capitalism
 - (C) promotion of long-distance trade
 - (D) consolidation of plantation-based agriculture
45. Moctezuma’s statement that the Mexica “were not the aborigines of the country” most likely refers to which of the following developments?
- (A) Widespread deadly epidemics before the arrival of the Spanish
 - (B) The presence of different and complex societies before European contact
 - (C) Use of the encomienda system by the Mexica before the arrival of the Spanish
 - (D) The development of African slavery in the Spanish colonies
46. Which of the following was a primary feature of social relations established in the Spanish colonies in the Western Hemisphere?
- (A) The development of a rigid racial hierarchy
 - (B) The growth of friendship and cooperation with native peoples
 - (C) The emergence of racially mixed populations mingling European settlers, Native Americans, and Africans
 - (D) A close-knit, homogeneous society with a thriving mixed economy of agriculture and commerce based on export crops

Questions 47 - 49 refer to the excerpt below.

“Now, we can see a new world coming into view. . . . In the words of Winston Churchill, a world order in which ‘the principles of justice and fair play protect the weak against the strong. . . .’ A world where the United Nations . . . is poised to fulfill the historic vision of its founders. A world in which freedom and respect for human rights find a home among all nations. The Gulf War put this new world to its first test. And my fellow Americans, we passed that test.”

President George H. W. Bush, address to Congress, March 6, 1991

47. Which of the following events most directly led to President Bush believing that a new “world order” was emerging?
- (A) United States military forces withdrawing from Vietnam
 - (B) The spread of computers and global information networks
 - (C) The end of the Cold War with the Soviet Union
 - (D) Terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon
48. Which of the following most directly represents an attempt to put the principles stated in the excerpt into action?
- (A) Curtailing domestic civil liberties through federal legislation to improve security against terrorism
 - (B) Participating in peacekeeping interventions in the Balkans to stop ethnic cleansing
 - (C) Constructing the Star Wars missile defense system to reduce the nuclear threat
 - (D) Creating a powerful military-industrial complex
49. The principles on human rights articulated by President Bush are most similar to
- (A) the ideas expressed by President George Washington in his 1796 Farewell Address
 - (B) President James K. Polk’s support for Manifest Destiny in the 1840s
 - (C) the ideas expressed by President Woodrow Wilson during and after the First World War
 - (D) President Ronald Reagan’s support for reinvigoration of anticommunism in the 1980s

UNITED STATES HISTORY

SECTION I, Part B

Time—50 minutes

3 Questions

Directions: Read each question carefully and write your responses in the Section I, Part B: Short Answer booklet on the lined pages provided for that question.

Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable. You may plan your answers in this exam booklet, but no credit will be given for notes written in this booklet. Only your responses on the designated pages of the Section I, Part B: Short Answer booklet will be scored.

1. Answer (a), (b), and (c).
 - a) Briefly explain ONE important similarity between the British colonies in the Chesapeake region and the British colonies in New England in the period from 1607 to 1754.
 - b) Briefly explain ONE important difference between the British colonies in the Chesapeake region and the British colonies in New England in the period from 1607 to 1754.
 - c) Briefly explain ONE factor that accounts for the difference that you indicated in (b).

“None of Nature’s landscapes are ugly so long as they are wild.”

John Muir, 1901

“I recognize the right and duty of this generation to develop and use the natural resources of our land; but I do not recognize the right to waste them, or to rob, by wasteful use, the generations that come after us.”

Former president Theodore Roosevelt, 1910

2. Using the excerpts, answer (a), (b), and (c).

- a) Briefly explain ONE implication for public policy of John Muir’s view on land use.
- b) Briefly explain ONE way in which an implication for public policy of Theodore Roosevelt’s view contrasts with the implication for public policy of Muir’s view.
- c) Identify ONE specific example of land use policy in the United States from 1890 to 1945 and briefly explain how the example is consistent with the view of either Muir or Roosevelt.

“As to the history of the revolution, my ideas may be peculiar, perhaps singular. What do we mean by the revolution? The war? That was no part of the revolution; it was only an effect and consequence of it. The revolution was in the minds of the people, and this was effected from 1760 to 1775, in the course of fifteen years, before a drop of blood was shed at Lexington.”

Former president John Adams to former president Thomas Jefferson,
August 1815

“There is nothing more common than to confound the terms of the American Revolution with those of the late American war. The American war is over: but this is far from being the case with the American Revolution. On the contrary, nothing but the first act of the great drama is closed. It remains yet to establish and perfect our new forms of government; and to prepare the principles, morals, and manners of our citizens, for these forms of government, after they are established and brought to perfection.”

Benjamin Rush, signer of the Declaration of Independence and delegate to the Continental Congress, January 1787

3. Using the excerpts, answer (a), (b), and (c).

- a) Briefly describe ONE significant difference between Adams’ understanding and Rush’s understanding of the American Revolution.
- b) Briefly explain how ONE specific historical event or development from the period between 1760 and 1800 could be used to support Adams’ interpretation.
- c) Briefly explain how ONE specific historical event or development from the period between 1760 and 1800 could be used to support Rush’s interpretation.

UNITED STATES HISTORY

SECTION II

Total Time—1 hour, 30 minutes

Question 1 (Document-Based Question)

Suggested reading period: 15 minutes

Suggested writing time: 40 minutes

Directions: Question 1 is based on the accompanying documents. The documents have been edited for the purpose of this exercise.

In your response you should do the following.

- State a relevant thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question.
- Support the thesis or a relevant argument with evidence from all, or all but one, of the documents.
- Incorporate analysis of all, or all but one, of the documents into your argument.
- Focus your analysis of each document on at least one of the following: intended audience, purpose, historical context, and/or point of view.
- Support your argument with analysis of historical examples outside the documents.
- Connect historical phenomena relevant to your argument to broader events or processes.
- Synthesize the elements above into a persuasive essay that extends your argument, connects it to a different historical context, or accounts for contradictory evidence on the topic.

1. Explain the reasons why a new conservatism rose to prominence in the United States between 1960 and 1989.

Background Information

The graph below is for background information. Analysis of it is not required and will not count toward the required number of documents.

UNEMPLOYMENT PLUS INFLATION, 1961–1988

Document 1

Source: Barry Goldwater, a Republican senator from Arizona, The Conscience of a Conservative, 1960.

Franklin Roosevelt's rapid conversion from Constitutionalism to the doctrine of unlimited government is an oft-told story. . . . I am here concerned . . . by the unmistakable tendency of the Republican Party to adopt the same course. The result is that today neither of our two parties maintains a meaningful commitment to the principle of States' Rights. Thus, the cornerstone of the Republic, our chief bulwark against the encroachment of individual freedom by Big Government, is fast disappearing under the piling sands of absolutism. . . .

The root evil is that the government is engaged in activities in which it has no legitimate business. As long as the federal government acknowledges responsibility in a given social or economic field, its spending in that field cannot be substantially reduced.

Document 2

Source: Milton Friedman, economist, Capitalism and Freedom, 1962.

We now have several decades of experience with governmental intervention. . . .

Which if any of the great "reforms" of past decades has achieved its objectives? . . .

A housing program intended to improve the housing conditions of the poor, to reduce juvenile delinquency, and to contribute to the removal of urban slums, has worsened the housing conditions of the poor, contributed to juvenile delinquency, and spread urban blight. . . .

The greater part of the new ventures undertaken by government in the past few decades have failed to achieve their objectives. The United States has continued to progress; its citizens have become better fed, better clothed, better housed, and better transported; class and social distinctions have narrowed; minority groups have become less disadvantaged. . . . All this has been the product of the initiative and drive of individuals co-operating through the free market.

Document 3

Source: Letter to Nelson Rockefeller, Republican governor of New York, February 6, 1971.

This letter is written to you by a law abiding citizen who feels she is discriminated against in favor of dope addicts and welfare cheats. I am a widow who lives alone, works every day, pays taxes and lives by the rules. I get very little from my taxes when I can no longer walk on the streets and when I am afraid in my own home. . . . Sorry this letter is not typed. My typewriter was stolen.

Document 4

Source: Jerry Falwell, television evangelist and founder of the Moral Majority, Listen, America!, 1980.

We must reverse the trend America finds herself in today. Young people between the ages of twenty-five and forty have been born and reared in a different world than Americans of years past. The television set has been their primary baby-sitter. From the television set they have learned situation ethics and immorality—they have learned a loss of respect for human life. They have learned to disrespect the family as God has established it. They have been educated in a public-school system that is permeated with secular humanism. They have been taught that the Bible is just another book of literature. They have been taught that there are no absolutes in our world today. They have been introduced to the drug culture. They have been reared by the family and the public school in a society that is greatly void of discipline and character-building. These same young people have been reared under the influence of a government that has taught them socialism and welfarism. They have been taught to believe that the world owes them a living whether they work or not.

From AMERICA: A NARRATIVE HISTORY, SEVENTH EDITION by George Brown Tindall & David E. Shi. Copyright © 2007, 2004, 1999, 1996, 1992, 1988, 1984 by W.W. Norton & Company, Inc. Used by permission of W.W. Norton & Company, Inc. Excerpt from LISTEN, AMERICA! by Jerry Falwell, copyright © 1980 by Jerry Falwell. Used by permission of Doubleday, an imprint of the Knopf Doubleday Publishing Group, a division of Random House LLC. All rights reserved. Any third party use of this material, outside of this publication, is prohibited. Interested parties must apply directly to Random House LLC for permission.

Document 5

Source: 1980 Republican Party Platform.

Overseas, our goal is . . . to preserve a world at peace by keeping America strong. This philosophy once occupied a hallowed place in American diplomacy, but it was casually . . . dismissed at the outset by the Carter Administration—and the results have been shattering. Never before in modern history has the United States endured as many humiliations, insults, and defeats as it has during the past four years: our ambassadors murdered, our embassies burned, our warnings ignored, our diplomacy scorned, our diplomats kidnapped. The Carter Administration has shown that it neither understands totalitarianism nor appreciates the way tyrants take advantage of weakness. The brutal invasion of Afghanistan promises to be only the forerunner of much more serious threats to the West—and to world peace—should the Carter Administration somehow cling to power.

Document 6

Source: Teddi Holt, a homemaker, a member of Georgia Stop ERA, and the national president of Mothers On the March, 1984.

I am pleased that God blessed me with the privilege of being a woman. I have never been envious of the role of men but have had respect for both sexes. There's no doubt that there has been discrimination against women, but that is past history, just as discrimination against blacks is past history in the US. . . .

Just what were we women to be liberated from? These women [feminists] were calling for liberation from the things women like me love most—our husbands, our children, our homes. My cry became: “God, liberate us from the Liberators!” . . .

We believe that the mothers of this and other nations must stand up for the protection of our homes and our children. In no way are we extremists, unless we be guilty of extreme devotion to our husbands, our children, and our homes. It is our sincere belief that if we do not unite against the threats to the home, if we retire to the convenience and security of our houses and do not speak out, then it will not be long until we, the “keeper at home” (Titus 2.5) will not have a home to keep!

Excerpt from “Women Who Do and Women Who Don’t Join the Women’s Movement” by Teddi Holt and edited by Robyn Rowland, Copyright © 1984 by Teddi Holt. Reproduced by permission of Taylor & Francis Books U.K.

END OF DOCUMENTS FOR QUESTION 1

Question 2 or Question 3
Suggested writing time: 35 minutes

Directions: Choose EITHER Question 2 or Question 3.

In your response you should do the following.

- State a relevant thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question.
 - Support your argument with evidence, using specific examples.
 - Apply historical thinking skills as directed by the question.
 - Synthesize the elements above into a persuasive essay that extends your argument, connects it to a different historical context, or connects it to a different category of analysis.
-
2. Evaluate the extent to which the Seven Years' War (French and Indian War, 1754–1763) marked a turning point in American relations with Great Britain, analyzing what changed and what stayed the same from the period before the war to the period after it.
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
-
3. Evaluate the extent to which the Mexican-American War (1846–1848) marked a turning point in the debate over slavery in the United States, analyzing what changed and what stayed the same from the period before the war to the period after it.

WHEN YOU FINISH WRITING, CHECK YOUR WORK ON SECTION II IF TIME PERMITS.

Answer Key for AP United States History
Practice Exam, Section I

Question 1: A	Question 26: B
Question 2: B	Question 27: D
Question 3: D	Question 28: A
Question 4: B	Question 29: B
Question 5: D	Question 30: B
Question 6: A	Question 31: A
Question 7: D	Question 32: B
Question 8: C	Question 33: D
Question 9: A	Question 34: B
Question 10: C	Question 35: D
Question 11: D	Question 36: A
Question 12: B	Question 37: A
Question 13: A	Question 38: D
Question 14: C	Question 39: A
Question 15: D	Question 40: A
Question 16: B	Question 41: A
Question 17: D	Question 42: C
Question 18: D	Question 43: B
Question 19: D	Question 44: A
Question 20: C	Question 45: B
Question 21: B	Question 46: C
Question 22: B	Question 47: C
Question 23: C	Question 48: B
Question 24: A	Question 49: C
Question 25: D

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Short Answer Question 1

0–3 points

Score 3

Response accomplishes all three tasks set by the question.

Score 2

Response accomplishes two of the tasks set by the question.

Score 1

Response accomplishes one of the tasks set by the question.

Score 0

Response accomplishes none of the tasks set by the question.

Score —

Is completely blank.

SCORING NOTES

Students may just focus on one colony from each region, e.g., Virginia and Massachusetts.

a) Explains ONE important similarity between the British colonies in the Chesapeake region and the British colonies in New England from 1607 to 1754.

- Agricultural but diversified economies by 1754
- Initial tolerance for survival between American Indians and British colonists
- Wars between colonists and American Indians due to land and cultural conflicts
- Indentured servitude and slavery as forms of labor
- Dependence on trade from and to Britain (e.g., Triangular Trade)
- Motivations for immigration (e.g., religious and economic)

Note: Merely restating the question (e.g., both were British colonies, ruled by British, spoke English, etc.) or noting a vague generality (e.g., both were religious, traded, or farmed) does not earn a point. Students MUST include explanation with answer.

b) Explains ONE important difference between the British colonies in the Chesapeake region and the British colonies in New England in the period from 1607 to 1754.

- Greater reliance on slavery in the Chesapeake
- Greater disparity in wealth between classes in the Chesapeake
- Mixed economy (e.g., fishing, lumber, tar, rope, small farming, etc.) in New England and reliance on agriculture and cash crops (e.g., tobacco, indigo, etc.) in Chesapeake
- Large (plantations/cash crop) vs. small (family/subsistence) farms
- Higher concentration of population density in New England compared to rural Chesapeake
- Religious differences between and among the regions (e.g., Rhode Island had more religious toleration, compared to Massachusetts Bay Colony, and the Maryland Toleration Act protected Catholics)
- New England founded more for religious reasons than the Chesapeake

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Short Answer Question 1 (continued)

- Settlement in New England more family oriented than in the Chesapeake, which was primarily young single males
 - More ethnic diversity in the Chesapeake than in New England
 - Healthier climate and more stable living conditions in New England
 - New England town meetings versus Chesapeake landed gentry (e.g., House of Burgesses)
 - Powhatan Wars/Bacon's Rebellion vs. Pequot Wars/King Philip's War
- c) Explains ONE factor that accounts for the difference indicated in (b).
- Greater reliance on slavery in Chesapeake due to labor intensive agriculture demands.
 - Greater disparity in wealth in Chesapeake due to unequal land distribution.
 - Diverse economies due to rocky soil in New England and nutrient-rich soil in Chesapeake.
 - Natural resources and individual motives led to different economic systems (e.g., large-scale vs. small-scale land use).
 - Natural resources and individual motives led to different levels of population density.
 - Challenges to existing political, religious, or social structures may weaken or divide colony (e.g., creation of the model community — City on a Hill).
 - Religious persecution and intolerance by the Anglican Church in England forced Puritans to emigrate.
 - Virginia Company provided profit motive, which, along with British laws of entail and primogeniture, encouraged immigration.
 - Economic and religious opportunities encouraged more diverse migrants to the Chesapeake.
 - Familiar forms of British political institutions took root in New England and Chesapeake (e.g., town meeting and House of Burgesses).
 - Land and cultural differences led to conflicts with American Indians.

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Short Answer Question 2

0–3 points

Score 3

Response accomplishes all three tasks set by the question.

Score 2

Response accomplishes two of the tasks set by the question.

Score 1

Response accomplishes one of the tasks set by the question.

Score 0

Response accomplishes none of the tasks set by the question.

Score —

Is completely blank.

SCORING NOTES

a) Explains ONE implication for public policy of John Muir’s view on land use.

- Preservation/preservationists (students must explain the implications of this term)
- Formation of preservationist organizations and movement to preserve the land in its natural state
- Engendered idea of worth in natural beauty of landscape and preservation in natural state as having social value that trumped economic value

b) Explains ONE way in which an implication for public policy of Theodore Roosevelt’s view contrasts with the implication for public policy of Muir’s view.

- Conservation/conservationists (students must explain the implications of this term)
- Formation of movement at federal level, supported by progressive ideals and presidents, to conserve the land (intelligent use)
- Social value in the conservation of land and resources, with eye toward sustainability over time, but also the need to manage the resources provided by the land to best balance the benefit to society with social and economic values
- Square Deal: a pro-business or pro-development outlook can coexist with conservationist views (Theodore Roosevelt’s 3Cs: consumer protection, control of corporations, and conservation)

c) Identifies ONE specific example of land use policy in the United States from 1890 to 1945 and briefly explains how the example is consistent with the view of either Muir or Roosevelt.

- Establishment of national park system, national monuments, national historic sites and archaeological sites (Antiquities Act; National Park Service) — Muir.
- Managed use of the land (Newlands Reclamation Act; Civilian Conservation Corps; Agricultural Adjustment Acts), regulations of land use to allow but control impact of mining, logging, water use, etc. — Roosevelt.

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Short Answer Question 2 (continued)

- Infrastructure projects designed to balance managed use of the land with preservation; these were more consistent with Roosevelt: hydroelectric dams, etc. (Hetch Hetchy; Hoover Dam; Tennessee Valley Authority).
- Growth of movement (e.g., Roosevelt or Muir) to preserve land and prevent exploitation and abuse of natural resources and environment, whether through federal regulation and establishment of federal agencies (White House Conference on Conservation; Department of the Interior; U.S. Fish Commission) or the organization of nonprofit private organizations like the Sierra Club.
- Land use policy examples must be from within time period 1890-1945; student must indicate “founding of a national park system” or other policy, beyond merely name-dropping specific national parks (for example, Yellowstone and Yosemite were both established before 1890).

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Short Answer Question 3

0–3 points

Score 3

Response accomplishes all three tasks set by the question.

Score 2

Response accomplishes two of the tasks set by the question.

Score 1

Response accomplishes one of the tasks set by the question.

Score 0

Response accomplishes none of the tasks set by the question.

Score —

Is completely blank.

SCORING NOTES

a) Describes ONE significant difference between Adams' understanding and Rush's understanding of the American Revolution.

- Adams thought that the revolutionary spirit that led to fighting was the revolution; out of a growing resistance to British regulation, the emergence of an American identity completed the revolution.
- Rush argued that the revolution was changing political systems and seeing if this new form of government could work; the revolution came after fighting ended.

b) Explains how ONE specific historical event or development from the period between 1760 and 1800 could be used to support Adams' interpretation.

- Developments: Growing separateness from Britain ("American mind," end of "salutary neglect")
- Stamp Act, Stamp Act Congress, and public demonstrations, including Sons of Liberty
- Movement to boycott British goods
- Boston Tea Party and Intolerable Acts
- Common Sense by Thomas Paine
- Declaration of Independence — list of grievances from 1760-1775

c) Explains how ONE specific historical event or development from the period between 1760 and 1800 could be used to support Rush's interpretation.

- Developments: republican form of government, American identity, nationalism
- Declaration of Independence — statement of "principles, morals" as basis of government
- Articles of Confederation
- Slavery as unresolved within the time period (Northwest Ordinance)
- Constitutional Convention and United States Constitution
- Bill of Rights
- Election of Washington's presidency, e.g., cabinet selection, Jay's Treaty
- Election of 1800 and the development of the first party system

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY 2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question

Explain the reasons why a new conservatism rose to prominence in the United States between 1960 and 1989.

A. Thesis: 0–1 point

Skills assessed: Argumentation + Causation

States a thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question. The thesis must do more than restate the question.

1 point

Does not state a thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question or has a thesis that merely restates the question.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

B. Analysis of historical evidence and support of argument: 0–4 points

Skills assessed: Use of Evidence, Argumentation, + Causation

Analysis of documents (0–3 points)

Offers plausible analysis of the content of a majority of the documents, explicitly using this analysis to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument.	OR	Offers plausible analysis of BOTH the content of a majority of the documents, explicitly using this analysis to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument; AND at least one of the following for the majority of the documents: - intended audience, - purpose, - historical context, and/or - the author's point of view	OR	Offers plausible analysis of BOTH the content of all or all but one of the documents, explicitly using this analysis to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument; AND at least one of the following for all or all but one of the documents: - intended audience, - purpose, - historical context, and/or - the author's point of view
1 point		2 points		3 points

AND/OR

Analysis of outside examples to support thesis/argument (0–1 point)

Offers plausible analysis of historical examples beyond/outside the documents to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument.

1 point

Response does not offer plausible analysis of a majority of the documents or does not use this analysis to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument. Response does not offer plausible analysis of historical examples beyond/outside the documents to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

C. Contextualization: 0–1 point

Skill assessed: Contextualization

Accurately and explicitly connects historical phenomena relevant to the argument to broader historical events and/or processes.

1 point

Response does not accurately and explicitly connect historical phenomena relevant to the argument to broader historical events and/or processes.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

D. Synthesis: 0–1 point

Skill assessed: Synthesis

Response synthesizes the argument, evidence, an analysis of documents, and context into a coherent and persuasive essay by accomplishing one or more of the following as relevant to the question.

Appropriately extends or modifies the stated thesis or argument.

OR

Recognizes and effectively accounts for disparate, sometimes contradictory, evidence from primary sources and/or secondary works in crafting a coherent argument.

OR

Appropriately connects the topic of the question to other historical periods, geographical areas, contexts, or circumstances.

1 point

1 point

1 point

Response does not synthesize the argument, evidence, analysis of documents, and context into a coherent and persuasive essay.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

SCORING NOTES

Thesis

A number of different intellectual, political, social, and economic strands contributed to the emergence of a new conservatism in the U.S. between 1960 and 1989. These could include the following:

- Reactions against big government
- Opposition to the women's movement/lesbian, gay, and bisexual rights
- The rise of the evangelical movement
- The belief in a free market economy
- Calls for law and order and resistance to perceived judicial activism
- Concerns about economic stagnation, inflation, and interest rates
- Anticommunism
- Anti-tax movement
- Apprehensions about social changes
- Defense of perceived traditional values
- Emphasis on personal freedom
- Escalating militancy of the Civil Rights movement
- Concerns about the credibility of the national government
- Perceived failure of U.S. foreign policy, military weakness
- Perceived failure of social welfare programs

Analysis of Documents

As explained above, to earn full credit for analyzing documents, responses must include at least one of the following for all or all but one of the documents: intended audience, purpose, historical context, author's point of view. Although examples of these elements are listed below, to earn full credit these examples of analysis must explicitly be used in support of a stated thesis or a relevant argument. Remember, this is NOT an exclusive list of examples that could be cited.

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY 2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Background Information: The graph below is for background information. Analysis of it is not required and will not count toward the required number of documents.

UNEMPLOYMENT PLUS INFLATION, 1961–1988

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Document 1

Source: Barry Goldwater, a Republican senator from Arizona, The Conscience of a Conservative, 1960.

Franklin Roosevelt's rapid conversion from Constitutionalism to the doctrine of unlimited government is an oft-told story. . . . I am here concerned . . . by the unmistakable tendency of the Republican Party to adopt the same course. The result is that today neither of our two parties maintains a meaningful commitment to the principle of States' Rights. Thus, the cornerstone of the Republic, our chief bulwark against the encroachment of individual freedom by Big Government, is fast disappearing under the piling sands of absolutism. . . .

The root evil is that the government is engaged in activities in which it has no legitimate business. As long as the federal government acknowledges responsibility in a given social or economic field, its spending in that field cannot be substantially reduced.

Components of document analysis may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Intended audience: fellow conservatives; the voting public
- Purpose: to advocate for a smaller federal government and to defend states' rights to make decisions for themselves at a time when the federal government was expanding its authority; criticizing the expansion of unwarranted governmental powers; also, to make a case for his upcoming campaign for the presidency
- Historical context: written during a time of expanding federal power. In particular, federal power was increasingly being used to protect the civil rights of African Americans, and arguments for states' rights were used as defenses of racial segregation
- The author's point of view: conservative politician; an advocate of states' rights and limited federal power

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Document 2

Source: Milton Friedman, economist, Capitalism and Freedom, 1962.

We now have several decades of experience with governmental intervention. . . .

Which if any of the great “reforms” of past decades has achieved its objectives? . . .

A housing program intended to improve the housing conditions of the poor, to reduce juvenile delinquency, and to contribute to the removal of urban slums, has worsened the housing conditions of the poor, contributed to juvenile delinquency, and spread urban blight. . . .

The greater part of the new ventures undertaken by government in the past few decades have failed to achieve their objectives. The United States has continued to progress; its citizens have become better fed, better clothed, better housed, and better transported; class and social distinctions have narrowed; minority groups have become less disadvantaged. . . . All this has been the product of the initiative and drive of individuals co-operating through the free market.

Components of document analysis may include the following:

- Intended audience: fellow conservatives; economists; the reading public
- Purpose: to critique government programs to support the economy and to advocate for free-market economics, supply-side economics, and trickle-down theory
- Historical context: written after three decades of the relative dominance of the New Deal political order, which established a variety of government programs to support individuals and to regulate economy; offers alternative way to regulate the economy through the money supply; challenges Keynesian economics
- The author’s point of view: conservative economist; advocate of free market policies; intends to criticize government economic programs and to argue that economic gains of the 20th century came from free markets

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Document 3

Source: Letter to Nelson Rockefeller, Republican governor of New York, February 6, 1971.

This letter is written to you by a law abiding citizen who feels she is discriminated against in favor of dope addicts and welfare cheats. I am a widow who lives alone, works every day, pays taxes and lives by the rules. I get very little from my taxes when I can no longer walk on the streets and when I am afraid in my own home. . . . Sorry this letter is not typed. My typewriter was stolen.

Components of document analysis may include the following:

- Intended audience: New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller; political leaders who may be able to help
- Purpose: to request government assistance against problems for urban danger; to criticize perceived permissive liberal policies that favor lawbreakers and the perceived failure of the liberal state
- Historical context: long-term increase in crime that accelerated in the late 1960s and early 1970s; urban unrest of late 1960s; changes in inner cities; possibly racial transition of cities as “white flight” led an increasingly African American population to move in; conservative politicians’ call for law and order
- The author’s point of view: claims to be a law-abiding female widow afraid to leave her home; blames drug addicts and welfare cheats for urban problems and crime; adopts language of being discriminated against to describe position

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Document 4

Source: Jerry Falwell, television evangelist and founder of the Moral Majority, Listen, America!, 1980.

We must reverse the trend America finds herself in today. Young people between the ages of twenty-five and forty have been born and reared in a different world than Americans of years past. The television set has been their primary baby-sitter. From the television set they have learned situation ethics and immorality—they have learned a loss of respect for human life. They have learned to disrespect the family as God has established it. They have been educated in a public-school system that is permeated with secular humanism. They have been taught that the Bible is just another book of literature. They have been taught that there are no absolutes in our world today. They have been introduced to the drug culture. They have been reared by the family and the public school in a society that is greatly void of discipline and character-building. These same young people have been reared under the influence of a government that has taught them socialism and welfarism. They have been taught to believe that the world owes them a living whether they work or not.

From AMERICA: A NARRATIVE HISTORY, SEVENTH EDITION by George Brown Tindall and David E. Shi. Copyright © 2007, 2004, 1999, 1996, 1992, 1988, 1984 by W.W. Norton and Company, Inc. Used by permission of W.W. Norton and Company, Inc. Excerpt from LISTEN, AMERICA! by Jerry Falwell, copyright © 1980 by Jerry Falwell. Used by permission of Doubleday, an imprint of the Knopf Doubleday Publishing Group, a division of Random House LLC. All rights reserved. Any third party use of this material, outside of this publication, is prohibited. Interested parties must apply directly to Random House LLC for permission.

Components of document analysis may include the following:

- Intended audience: fellow conservative evangelicals; the reading public
- Purpose: to critique the current moral standing of the United States; criticize the perceived erosion of traditional values in light of new technology and modern values, to motivate political action by the Christian right
- Historical context: written at the height of the evangelical Christian movement becoming involved in politics and aligning itself with the Republican Party
- The author's point of view: leader within the conservative evangelical Christian movement; argues that modern young people have lost traditional Christian morality

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Document 5

Source: 1980 Republican Party Platform.

Overseas, our goal is . . . to preserve a world at peace by keeping America strong. This philosophy once occupied a hallowed place in American diplomacy, but it was casually . . . dismissed at the outset by the Carter Administration—and the results have been shattering. Never before in modern history has the United States endured as many humiliations, insults, and defeats as it has during the past four years: our ambassadors murdered, our embassies burned, our warnings ignored, our diplomacy scorned, our diplomats kidnapped. The Carter Administration has shown that it neither understands totalitarianism nor appreciates the way tyrants take advantage of weakness. The brutal invasion of Afghanistan promises to be only the forerunner of much more serious threats to the West—and to world peace—should the Carter Administration somehow cling to power.

Components of document analysis may include the following:

- Intended audience: Republican Party members; the voting public; the news media
- Purpose: to advocate U.S. strength in the world; to criticize the Carter administration's foreign policy
- Historical context: Ronald Reagan's 1980 presidential campaign against Jimmy Carter on the heels of the Iranian hostage crisis
- The author's point of view: critical of Carter administration; supportive of vigorous projection of U.S. power in the world

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Document 6

Source: Teddi Holt, a homemaker, a member of Georgia Stop ERA, and the national president of Mothers On the March, 1984.

I am pleased that God blessed me with the privilege of being a woman. I have never been envious of the role of men but have had respect for both sexes. There's no doubt that there has been discrimination against women, but that is past history, just as discrimination against blacks is past history in the US . . .

Just what were we women to be liberated from? These women [feminists] were calling for liberation from the things women like me love most—our husbands, our children, our homes. My cry became: “God, liberate us from the Liberators!” . . .

We believe that the mothers of this and other nations must stand up for the protection of our homes and our children. In no way are we extremists, unless we be guilty of extreme devotion to our husbands, our children, and our homes. It is our sincere belief that if we do not unite against the threats to the home, if we retire to the convenience and security of our houses and do not speak out, then it will not be long until we, the “keeper at home” (Titus 2.5) will not have a home to keep!

Excerpt from “Women Who Do and Women Who Don't Join the Women's Movement” by Teddi Holt and edited by Robyn Rowland, Copyright © 1984 by Teddi Holt. Reproduced by permission of Taylor and Francis Books U.K.

Components of document analysis may include the following:

- Intended audience: fellow conservatives; women; the reading public
- Purpose: to defend role for women as staying at home with their families
- Historical context: increasing numbers of married women and mothers in the paid workforce; the decade after the emergence of the women's rights movement; a few years after the failure of the Equal Rights Amendment
- The author's point of view: conservative woman; opponent of women's rights movement and Equal Rights Amendment; defender of women as homemakers, mothers, and wives

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

Analysis of outside examples to support thesis/argument

Possible examples of information not found in the documents that could be used to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument could include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Antiwar protests
- Assassinations of John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Jr., Robert F. Kennedy, and Malcolm X
- Black Power
- Civil Rights Act 1964
- Civil Rights movement, increased militancy
- Cold War
- Deregulation of industry
- détente
- Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)
- Equal Rights Amendment
- “evil empire”
- Great Society
- Iran-Contra
- Iranian Hostage Crisis
- Kent State shootings
- Law and order campaign
- Love Canal
- Mayaguez Incident
- New Federalism
- Nuclear weapons
- Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) oil embargo
- Panama Canal Treaty
- Pentagon Papers
- Reaganomics
- Revenue sharing
- Pat Robertson
- Roe v. Wade
- SALT II
- Phyllis Schlafly
- Silent Majority
- Soviet Union
- Stagflation
- Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI)
- Supply-side economics
- Supreme Court decisions
- Three Mile Island
- Trickle-down theory
- Urban riots, 1960s
- Vietnam War

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 1 — Document-Based Question (continued)

- Voting Rights Act, 1965
- War on Poverty
- Watergate
- Whip Inflation Now

Contextualization

Students can earn a point for contextualization by accurately and explicitly connecting historical phenomena relevant to the argument to broader historical events and/or processes. These historical phenomena may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Reactions against the perceived permissiveness of the 1960s and 1970s, including the counterculture, antiwar protest, feminism, and the sexual revolution
- The ongoing thread of anticommunism in the post-World War II U.S.
- Reactions against the perceived excesses of government interventions in the economy and society, such as various welfare programs and the Johnson administration's Great Society
- Concerns about U.S. economic stagnation, combined with belief in free market solutions
- Concerns about increased crime and the perceived need for greater law and order
- Population movements out of cities into suburbs and out of the North and East into the South and West
- Possible reactions against the successes of the Civil Rights movement
- Reaction against Supreme Court rulings expanding the rights of the accused
- Perceptions of military weakness following the Vietnam War and a desire to strengthen the U.S. military
- Emergence of charismatic politicians such as Ronald Reagan

Synthesis

Responses can earn the point for synthesis by crafting a persuasive and coherent essay. This can be accomplished providing a conclusion that extends or modifies the analysis in the essay, by using disparate, and sometimes contradictory, evidence from primary and/or secondary sources to craft a coherent argument, or by connecting to another historical period or context. Examples could include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Comparing the rise of the New Right to earlier political coalitions such as the one that formed around the New Deal
- Comparing the rise of the New Right to the contemporary rise of the New Left
- Continuing the story of the rise of the New Right to include the Contract with America and the Republican recapture of control of the House of Representatives.
- Linking the rise of the New Right in this period to the later emergence of the Tea Party

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 2

Evaluate the extent to which the Seven Years' War (French and Indian War, 1754–1763) marked a turning point in American relations with Great Britain, analyzing what changed and what stayed the same from the period before the war to the period after it.

A. Thesis: 0–1 point

Skills assessed: Argumentation + Periodization

States a thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question. The thesis must do more than restate the question.

1 point

Does not state a thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question or has a thesis that merely restates the question.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

B. Support for argument: 0–2 points

Skills assessed: Argumentation + Use of Evidence

Supports the stated thesis (or makes a relevant argument) using specific evidence.

1 point

OR

Supports the stated thesis (or makes a relevant argument) using specific evidence, clearly and consistently stating how the evidence supports the thesis or argument, and establishing clear linkages between the evidence and the thesis or argument.

2 points

Response does not use specific evidence to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

C. Application of targeted historical thinking skill: 0–2 points

Skill assessed: Periodization

PERIODIZATION

Describes the ways in which the historical development specified in the prompt was different from OR similar to developments that preceded and/or followed.

1 point

OR

Analyzes the extent to which the historical development specified in the prompt was different from AND similar to developments that preceded and/or followed, providing specific examples to illustrate the analysis.

2 points

Response does not describe the ways in which the historical development specified in the prompt was different from OR similar to developments that preceded and/or followed.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 2 (continued)

D. Synthesis: 0–1 point

Skill assessed: Synthesis

Response synthesizes the argument, evidence, and context into a coherent and persuasive essay by accomplishing one or more of the following as relevant to the question.
Appropriately extends or modifies the stated thesis or argument.	OR	Explicitly employs an additional appropriate category of analysis (e.g., political, economic, social, cultural, geographic, race, gender) beyond that called for in the prompt.	OR	Appropriately connects the topic of the question to other historical periods, geographical areas, contexts, or circumstances.
1 point		1 point		1 point
Response does not synthesize the argument, evidence, and context into a coherent and persuasive essay.
0 points
Response is completely blank.
—

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 2 (continued)

SCORING NOTES

The focus of the response helps determine what information is considered appropriate.

Thesis

An acceptable thesis would evaluate the extent to which the Seven Years' War was a turning point.

Possible thesis statements could include the following:

- Resentments resulting from the war and its aftermath fostered a nascent independence movement in the colonies and led to the American Revolution.
- Most colonists saw themselves as British subjects, despite resentments over the Seven Years' War or the war debt.
- For some colonial groups, such as the elite, the Seven Years' War marked a major turning point in relations, while for others, such as the colonial common people, the relations with Great Britain remained much the same.
- This war, to a great extent, marked a turning point in the relationship between America and Britain due to the change in economic policies, the restricted expansion, and the limited preservation of trade relations with England.
- The French and Indian war marked a major turning point in American relations with Great Britain, with changes such as increased British control and anti-British sentiment in the colonies, but also continuities such as a loyalty to Britain that remained largely untouched by the war.

Support for Argument

Commonly seen evidence includes the following:

- Debt from the Seven Years' War crippled Great Britain.
- Taxes levied on the colonies to pay for the debt; taxation and efforts of Britain to assert greater control over colonial affairs (Grenville ministry).
- Colonial resentments over the Seven Years' War; loss of generation; treatment of colonial forces by British regulars.
- British troops left in the American colonies, standing army.
- Passage of the Proclamation of 1763 to prevent movement of settlers across Appalachians.
- British efforts to pacify and negotiate with American Indians resulted in colonial resentment.
- Tightening of control in the mercantile system, period of salutary neglect ended.
- Sugar Act (Revenue Act), 1764, and Stamp Act, 1765, levied to pay for war debt.
- Trans-Atlantic exchanges throughout period brought ideals of republicanism, liberalism, natural rights, democracy and experimental political systems to the colonies; long-term influence of the Enlightenment — all fostered the independence movement.
- The Albany Plan of Union as an early attempt at colonial unity.
- Growth of a unique colonial identity at odds with British view of colonials.

Application of Historical Thinking Skills

- Essays earn 1 point by describing the ways in which the events of the Seven Year's War were different from OR similar to developments that preceded and/or followed in relations with Great Britain.
- Essays earn 2 points by analyzing the ways in which the events of the Seven Year's War were different from AND similar to developments that preceded and/or followed in relations with Great Britain, providing specific examples to illustrate the analysis.

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 2 (continued)

Synthesis

Responses can earn the synthesis point by crafting a persuasive and coherent essay. This can be accomplished by providing an argument or conclusion that extends or modifies the analysis in the essay, by introducing another category of historical analysis, or by making a connection to another historical period.

Examples include but are not limited to the following:

- Explicitly calling out the social, cultural, gender, or racial elements of a largely military and diplomatic story.
- Concretely and explicitly linking the Seven Years' War to subsequent conflicts such as the American Revolution or the War of 1812.

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 3

Evaluate the extent to which the Mexican-American War (1846–1848) marked a turning point in the debate over slavery in the United States, analyzing what changed and what stayed the same from the period before the war to the period after it.

A. Thesis: 0–1 point

Skills assessed: Argumentation + Periodization

States a thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question. The thesis must do more than restate the question.

1 point

Does not state a thesis that directly addresses all parts of the question or has a thesis that merely restates the question.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

B. Support for argument: 0–2 points

Skills assessed: Argumentation + Use of Evidence

Supports the stated thesis (or makes a relevant argument) using specific evidence.

1 point

OR

Supports the stated thesis (or makes a relevant argument) using specific evidence, clearly and consistently stating how the evidence supports the thesis or argument, and establishing clear linkages between the evidence and the thesis or argument.

2 points

Response does not use specific evidence to support the stated thesis or a relevant argument.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

C. Application of targeted historical thinking skill: 0–2 points

Skill assessed: Periodization

PERIODIZATION

Describes the ways in which the historical development specified in the prompt was different from OR similar to developments that preceded and/or followed.

1 point

OR

Analyzes the extent to which the historical development specified in the prompt was different from AND similar to developments that preceded and/or followed, providing specific examples to illustrate the analysis.

2 points

Response does not describe the ways in which the historical development specified in the prompt was different from OR similar to developments that preceded and/or followed.

0 points

Response is completely blank.

—

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 3 (continued)

D. Synthesis: 0–1 point

Skill assessed: Synthesis

Response synthesizes the argument, evidence, and context into a coherent and persuasive essay by accomplishing one or more of the following as relevant to the question.
Appropriately extends or modifies the stated thesis or argument.	OR	Explicitly employs an additional appropriate category of analysis (e.g., political, economic, social, cultural, geographic, race, gender) beyond that called for in the prompt.	OR	Appropriately connects the topic of the question to other historical periods, geographical areas, contexts, or circumstances.
1 point		1 point		1 point
Response does not synthesize the argument, evidence, and context into a coherent and persuasive essay.
0 points
Response is completely blank.
—

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY

2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 3 (continued)

SCORING NOTES

Responses define the chronological beginning and end points for the essay; the focus of the response helps determine what information is considered appropriate.

Thesis

An acceptable thesis would evaluate the extent to which the Mexican-American War was a turning point, indicating the extent of change OR continuity. Note: Indicating explicitly the extent of change implies the extent of continuity, and vice versa.

Possible thesis statements emphasizing change could include the following:

- The Mexican-American War marked a turning point in the debate over slavery in the U.S. by unleashing a massive tension between the North and South on what land would be free and what land would be slave.
- The Mexican-American War marked a huge turning point in the debate over slavery because it brought to light the controversy of territorial self-determination and asked the question that would define America on a fundamental level: is this country one of slavery or one of freedom?

Possible thesis statements emphasizing continuity could include the following:

- The questions of slavery and expansion were inevitable political issues.
- The culmination of Manifest Destiny only sped up the process.

Possible thesis statements modifying the position could include the following: The Compromise of 1850 with its controversial points, not the Mexican-American War, was the major turning point of 19th century.

Support for Argument

Possible evidence that could be used includes the following:

BEFORE Mexican-American War

- Manifest Destiny
- Missouri Compromise (1820)
- Increasing fear of slave power
- William Lloyd Garrison, The Liberator (1830)
- Gag rule
- Frederick Douglass
- Annexation of Texas (1845)

Mexican-American War and AFTER

- Opposition to Mexican-American War among northern Whigs
- Abraham Lincoln Spot Resolutions (1846)
- Wilmot Proviso (1846)
- Popular sovereignty
- Stephen A. Douglas
- Compromise of 1850
 - California enters as free state
 - Stricter fugitive slave law
 - Popular sovereignty in Utah and New Mexico Territory
 - Slave trade banned in Washington, D.C.
- Kansas-Nebraska Act (1854)
- Formation of Republican Party (1854)
- Bleeding Kansas (1855)
- Dred Scott v. Sandford (1857)

AP[®] UNITED STATES HISTORY 2015 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 3 (continued)

Application of Historical Thinking Skills

- Essays earn 1 point by describing the ways in which the debates over slavery were different from OR similar to debates over slavery that preceded and/or followed the Mexican-American War.
- Essays earn 2 points by analyzing the ways in which the debates over slavery were different from AND similar to debates over slavery that preceded and/or followed the Mexican-American War, providing specific examples to illustrate the analysis.
- Examples of issues that influenced the debate over slavery could include the following:
 - Discussion of political balance based on slavery before and after the war
 - Discussion of extent of cotton cultivation before and after the war
 - Discussion of the abolition movement before and after the war
 - Discussion of the ideologies of free soil and free labor before and after the war

Synthesis

Responses can earn the synthesis point by crafting a persuasive and coherent essay. This could be accomplished by but not limited to the following:

- Providing a conclusion that extends or modifies the analysis in the essay by explicitly assessing the impact of the Mexican-American War on American Indian and/or Hispanic people living in the territory transferred from Mexico to the United States.
- Introducing another category of historical analysis by explicitly calling out the cultural or gender, or racial elements of a political story.
- Making a connection to another historical period or context. Examples could include the following:
 - Concretely and explicitly linking the Mexican-American War to earlier imperial conflicts such as the Seven Years' War and the American Revolution
 - Explicitly linking the Mexican-American War to subsequent developments such as the Civil War and Reconstruction or the 20th century Civil Rights movement