

Tennessee Comprehensive Assessment Program

TCAP

Social Studies
U.S. History
Practice Items

The image depicts a historical event.

Source: Wyoming State
Historical Society

How did events such as this change the demographics of the United States?

- A. Cities in the northeastern United States experienced declines in population.
- B. Sharecropping caused immigrant resettlement in southern states.
- C. The Pacific Coast states became the most populous in North America.
- D. The interior of the United States experienced increased economic development.

The excerpt describes policies that affected American Indian communities.

American Indians also grew increasingly distant from native culture under the influence of white schools, missions, and churches.

Indian schools . . . were intended to teach American Indian children the ways of whites, including speaking only English. Thousands of American Indians . . . abandoned native practices. Over time their languages, religions, and traditions faded.

— Arts of Citizenship Program, University of Michigan

The intended purpose of “Indian schools” was

- A. to teach farming to American Indians.
- B. to prepare American Indians for public office.
- C. to culturally assimilate American Indians.
- D. to maintain American Indian culture for posterity.

The text provides information about the Exodusters.

What was it about Kansas that particularly attracted African Americans to that state? At the time that many African Americans began to consider abandoning the South, there was certainly a good deal of frontier land available elsewhere. Besides slick (and often misleading) promotion of town sites, what drew freed men and women to Kansas?

First, purely logistical and geographic factors must be considered. Kansas, while certainly never considered a part of the South (except by pro-slavery Missourians prior to the Civil War), is much closer to the South than far-off spots like California and Oregon. Getting to Kansas was a much simpler and less expensive task than getting to such faraway places. . . .

Another factor — a human one — also played a role in the selection of Kansas as the new Promised Land. The exploits of anti-slavery activists like John Brown gave Kansas an almost holy sacredness to many African Americans. In Kansas, blood had been spilled to keep slavery out. The memories of John Brown and other abolitionist warriors lived on in the hearts and minds of freed men and women and made Kansas seem the ideal place to begin anew.

Many of the African Americans that migrated to Kansas prior to the 1879 exodus came from Tennessee. There a popular movement sprang seemingly from nowhere in 1874, leading to a . . . convention in Nashville in May 1875. Many town promoters, including the notable Benjamin "Pap" Singleton, saw this convention as a way to convince people to migrate to Kansas. The convention resulted in the designation of a board of commissioners to officially promote migration to Kansas. . . .

By early March [of 1880], about 1,500 had already passed through St. Louis en route to Kansas. Back in Mississippi and Louisiana, thousands more crowded onto riverbanks to wait for passing steamers to give them passage to St. Louis. . . .

Back in the South, more African Americans continued to plan to depart for Kansas. African-American social leaders and ministers often sang the praises of the exodus, comparing it to Moses and the Israelites' escape from Egypt. Of course, some African-American leaders spoke out against the exodus as well, stating that those leaving for Kansas were jeopardizing the future of those who chose to stay behind and that democracy should be given more time to work. Among the most notable of those that tried to dissuade African Americans from fleeing the South was Frederick Douglass.

Southern Whites continued to oppose the exodus as well. Many went to extreme measures to try to keep African Americans from emigrating, including arrest and imprisonment on false charges and the old standby of raw, brute force.

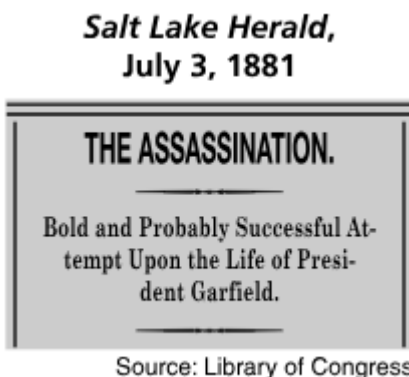

— "Exodusters," Todd Arrington, Historian at Homestead National Monument of America

(Continued on next page)

What was the primary reason for opposition to the African-American movement to Kansas?

- A. Northern industrialists were recruiting factory workers.
- B. Kansas was the location of reservations for American Indians.
- C. Southern planters were losing their labor source.
- D. Kansas had an inadequate number of schools and libraries.

The image is based on a newspaper headline of a historic event.

Which congressional action resulted from this event?

- A. creation of the U.S. Department of the Interior
- B. passage of the Pendleton Civil Service Reform Act for federal jobs
- C. passage of a declaration of war
- D. establishment of a minimum wage for hourly jobs

Which contribution did Henry Bessemer make to industrialism?

- A. He improved methods for generating energy.
- B. He developed methods for mining resources.
- C. He developed manufacturing with assembly lines.
- D. He improved the manufacturing of construction material.

In the United States, which factor caused a significant increase in urban migration from 1850 to 1900?

- A. declining demand for food production
- B. declining interest in family life
- C. rapid industrial development
- D. rapid agricultural expansion

The Gentlemen's Agreement of 1907 limited immigration to the United States of people from which country?

- A. China
- B. Ireland
- C. Japan
- D. Russia

On which point did supporters of Social Darwinism and supporters of Social Gospel fundamentally disagree?

- A. the role of government in society
- B. the role of the corporation in society
- C. the importance of religion in society
- D. the importance of the family in society

The excerpt is adapted from a book by W.E.B. Du Bois.

So far as Mr. [Booker T.] Washington apologizes for injustice, North or South, does not rightly value the privilege and duty of voting, belittles the . . . effects of caste distinction and opposes the higher training and ambition of our brighter minds — so far as he, the South, or the Nation, does this — we must unceasingly and firmly oppose them.

— W.E.B. Du Bois, 1903

Which position regarding the future of African Americans did W.E.B. Du Bois oppose in this excerpt?

- A. The quest for equality could involve the use of violent measures.
- B. The widening of gaps among groups would help to maintain stability.
- C. A slow and gradual path to achieving equality would be acceptable.
- D. An honorable vision of progress should rule out any kind of compromise.

Why did farmers resist the actions of railroad monopolies in the late 19th century?

- A. because aggressive competition for railroad workers led to higher farm wages
- B. because discriminatory shipping rates increased distribution costs for farmers
- C. because extensive railroad expansion reduced available farmland
- D. because federal grants aided railroads at the expense of farmers

Which role did Samuel Gompers play in the labor movement?

- A. He prosecuted corrupt public office holders.
- B. He documented the conditions of child laborers through photographs.
- C. He petitioned the government to reduce industrial regulations.
- D. He advocated to improve working conditions for industrial laborers.

The diagram describes two pieces of legislation.

Sherman
Antitrust Act,
1890

Outlawed
monopolistic
business
practices

Clayton
Antitrust Act,
1914

Created the Federal Trade
Commission to further prevent unfair methods
of competition

Based on this source, what was the purpose of the Clayton Antitrust Act?

- A. reinforce the Sherman Act to help limit monopolies
- B. support the Sherman Act by merging companies
- C. weaken government power to protect consumers
- D. outlaw business collaboration among rival companies

The photograph below was taken in a Georgia textile mill in 1909.

Source: Public Domain/Library of Congress

What issue was the photographer exposing with this photograph?

- A. the problems of child labor
- B. the issue of excessive working hours
- C. the concerns of technological unemployment
- D. the conflict between management and workers

The excerpt below was written by Ida Tarbell in 1904.

On the 29th day of April, 1879, the Grand Jury of the County of Clarion found an indictment against John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Jabez A. Bostwick, Daniel O'Day, William G. Warden, Charles Lockhart, Henry M. Flagler, Jacob J. Vandergrift, and George W. Girty. . . .There were eight counts in the indictment, and charged, in brief, a conspiracy . . . to prevent others than themselves from buying and selling and making a legitimate profit thereby; a combination to oppress and injure those engaged in producing petroleum; a conspiracy to prevent others than themselves from engaging in . . . refining petroleum . . .; and to extort from railroad companies unreasonable rebates and commissions, and by fraudulent means and devices to control the market prices of crude and refined petroleum and acquire unlawful gains thereby.

- Ida Tarbell, The History of the Standard Oil Company, 1904.

Based on this excerpt and your content knowledge, why did Ida Tarbell publish the details of this trial?

- A. to expose the misuse of natural resources in the energy industry
- B. to expose business practices in violation of antitrust legislation
- C. to expose the exploitation of workers in the manufacturing industry
- D. to expose business practices in violation of safety legislation

The source describes the Progressive Era.

The Progressive Era, as the period in history at the turn of the 20th century has come to be known, was a time of tremendous social, economic, and political changes, and the presidential election of 1912 typified the reform spirit of the period. Beginning in the late 1800s with the challenge to the “spoils system” of machine politics, progressivism gathered momentum between 1900 and 1916, as the desire for reform permeated the minds of the American people. Reformers themselves were a diverse group, frequently with different views, but always the same general purpose — to reform America. Among them were politicians, labor leaders, religious leaders, and teachers, men and women who believed the federal government needed to address the ills of a modern industrialized society.

— The Library of Congress

Which phrase best describes legislation that was supported by the group described in the source?

- A. limits to immigration to the United States
- B. direct election of U.S. senators
- C. changing currency to a gold standard
- D. repealing building codes in major cities

Which two events were accomplished during President Theodore Roosevelt's administration?

- A. passage of legislation regulating the sale of food and drugs
- B. repeal of the progressive income tax
- C. preservation of nearly two hundred million acres for national forests
- D. establishment of a foreign policy of moral diplomacy
- E. departure from the League of Nations

The diagram below describes policies of President Woodrow Wilson.

According to this diagram, which goal was the focus of President Wilson's New Freedom?

- A. territorial expansion
- B. immigration reform
- C. infrastructure work
- D. financial stability

How did Anne Dallas Dudley make a contribution to Tennessee history?

- A. She established the first health clinics for women and children.
- B. She cast the final vote in the legislature to approve the 19th Amendment.
- C. She played a significant role in the women's suffrage movement.
- D. She became the first woman representative in the legislature.

The list includes information about U.S. Imperialism in the late Nineteenth Century.

Features of U.S. Imperialism during the Late Nineteenth Century

- Desire for raw materials
- Rise of yellow journalism
- Demands for new markets

Which entry could be added to this list?

- A. Desire to spread democratic principles to other nations
- B. Need to acquire additional land for a growing population
- C. Demands of corporations for cheap labor sources
- D. Needs of a large nation to increase tax revenues

The excerpt below is from a speech by Senator Albert Beveridge in 1898.

Have we no mission to perform, no duty to discharge to our fellow-man? . . .

Shall we be as the man who had one talent and hid it, or as he who had ten talents and used them until they grew to riches? And shall we reap the reward that waits on our discharge . . . for what our farmers raise, our factories make, our merchants sell—aye, and . . . new markets for what our ships shall carry?

Hawaii is ours; [Puerto] Rico is to be ours; at the prayer of her people Cuba finally will be ours; in the islands of the East, even to the gates of Asia, coaling stations are to be ours at the very least; the flag of a liberal government is to float over the Philippines. . . .

. . . Do we owe no duty to the world? Shall we turn these peoples back to the reeking hands from which we have taken them? Shall we abandon them, with Germany, England, Japan, hungering for them? Shall we save them from those nations, to give them a self-rule of tragedy? . . .

. . . In 1789 the flag of the Republic waved over 4,000,000 souls in thirteen states, and their . . . territory which stretched to the Mississippi, to Canada, to the Floridas. The timid minds of that day said that no new territory was needed, and, for the hour, they were right. But Jefferson, through whose intellect the centuries marched; Jefferson, who dreamed of Cuba as an American state; Jefferson, the first Imperialist of the Republic—Jefferson acquired that imperial territory which swept from the Mississippi to the mountains, from Texas to the British possessions, and the march of the flag began! . . .

There are so many real things to be done — canals to be dug, railways to be laid, forests to be felled, cities to be builded, fields to be tilled, markets to be won, ships to be launched, peoples to be saved, civilization to be proclaimed and the flag of liberty flung to the eager air of every sea. Is this an hour to waste upon triflers with nature's laws? Is this a season to give our destiny over to word-mongers and prosperity-wreckers? No! It is an hour to remember our duty to our homes. It is a moment to realize the opportunities fate has opened to us. . . .

. . . We can not fly from our world duties; it is ours to execute the purpose of a fate that has driven us to be greater than our small intentions. We can not retreat from any soil where Providence has unfurled our banner; it is ours to save that soil for liberty and civilization.

- Public Domain

(Continued on next page)

Which argument would an opponent of Senator Beveridge's position most likely have made in response?

- A. The support of the United States for global free trade made imperialist actions unnecessary.
- B. The size of the United States created economic independence and made imperialist actions unnecessary.
- C. The commitment of the United States to peaceful conflict resolution made imperialist actions inappropriate.
- D. The principles of the United States supported political independence and made imperialist actions inappropriate.

The excerpt is a letter from Queen Lili'uokalani to the House of Representatives, 1989.

The House of Representatives of the United States:

I, Liliuokalani of Hawaii, . . . do hereby earnestly and respectfully protest against the assertion of ownership by the United States of America of the so-called Hawaiian Crown Islands amounting to about one million acres and which are my property, and I especially protest against such assertion of ownership as a taking of property without due process of law and without just or other compensation.

Therefore, supplementing my protest of June 17, 1897, I call upon the President and the National Legislature and the People of the United States to do justice in this matter and to restore to me this property, the enjoyment of which is being withheld from me by your Government under what must be a misapprehension of my right and title.

This letter was a result of events caused by

- A. U.S. mediation between two Pacific island nations.
- B. a need by the United States for canals and railroads in Pacific territories.
- C. U.S. imperialism and a desire for Pacific naval bases.
- D. a desire by the United States to send missionaries to Pacific island nations.

The source is a presidential message given by President Taft in 1912.

The foreign relations of the United States actually and potentially affect the state of the Union to a degree not widely realized and hardly surpassed by any other factor in the welfare of the whole Nation. The position of the United States in the moral, intellectual, and material relations of the family of nations should be a matter of vital interest to every patriotic citizen. The national prosperity and power impose upon us duties which we cannot shirk if we are to be true to our ideals. The tremendous growth of the export trade of the United States has already made that trade a very real factor in the industrial and commercial prosperity of the country. With the development of our industries the foreign commerce of the United States must rapidly become a still more essential factor in its economic welfare.

— President William Howard Taft, Message to the U.S. Congress, December 3, 1912

According to this source, how did President Taft plan to modify President Theodore Roosevelt's Big Stick diplomacy?

- A. by sending U.S. envoys to South America to monitor and finance democratic elections
- B. by encouraging U.S. churches to form missions in Central America to provide social services
- C. by encouraging U.S. investment in Central America to expand a financial presence in the region
- D. by financing the construction of U.S. embassies in the capitals of South American nations

The image below is newspaper headline from a historic event.

What was the most direct result of the event described in this source?

- A. the beginning of civil war in the Ottoman Empire
- B. the U.S. military invasion of Germany
- C. the overthrow of the Austrian government
- D. the outbreak of World War I

Which statement describes the reason the Zimmermann Note contributed to the U.S. entry into World War I?

- A. The United States had allowed the conflict to escalate through neutrality.
- B. Germany had declared its intention to ally itself with Mexico.
- C. Germany was actively interfering with crucial foreign alliances.
- D. The United States had trade interests with Mexico.

Which military strategy was most responsible for the long stalemate between France and Germany during World War I?

- A. aerial warfare
- B. trench warfare
- C. introduction of tanks
- D. use of chemical weapons

The source is a Supreme Court decision in the case Schenck v. United States.

The question in every case is whether the words used are used in such circumstances and are of such a nature as to create a clear and present danger that they will bring about the substantive evils that Congress has a right to prevent. It is a question of proximity and degree. When a nation is at war, many things that might be said in time of peace are such a hindrance to its effort that their utterance will not be endured so long as men fight, and that no Court could regard them as protected by any constitutional right. It seems to be admitted that, if an actual obstruction of the recruiting service were proved, liability for words that produced that effect might be enforced.

— U.S. Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Schenck v. United States, 1919

According to this opinion, which statement summarizes the effect of this Supreme Court ruling on the First Amendment?

- A. American citizens were allowed to practice free speech in foreign countries.
- B. The federal government could limit free speech during times of national crisis.
- C. The federal government allowed soldiers to practice free speech.
- D. German prisoners were granted the right to free speech.

What was the central reason for the United States' refusal to join the League of Nations?

- A. fear of increased debt
- B. fear of trade embargos
- C. fear of increased taxation
- D. fear of foreign entanglements

The chart on the Great Migration has sections missing.

Great Migration
Push Factor	Pull Factor
1	2

Which factors best complete this source?

- A. 1 — Jim Crow laws; 2 — Availability of jobs
- B. 1 — Housing restrictions; 2 — Lack of discrimination
- C. 1 — Lack of employment; 2 — Military service
- D. 1 — Practice of segregation; 2 — Tenant farming

- Source: Courtesy of John W. Hartman Center at Duke University

Which kind of music did the Grand Ole Opry help popularize?

- A. Jazz
- B. Blues
- C. Rock and Roll
- D. Country and Western

By 1929, how did the growth of the air transportation business most affect U.S. citizens?

- A. Passengers no longer had access to trains or buses.
- B. Workers were able to commute over longer distances to their jobs.
- C. Passengers and mail were able to travel quickly over long distances.
- D. Automobiles were no longer used for long trips.

The sources concern the 1920s.

Source 1

Source: Public Domain

Source 2

Cars were the symbol of the new consumer society that emerged in the 1920s. In 1919, there were just 6.7 million cars on American roads. By 1929, there were more than 27 million cars — or nearly one car for every household in the United States. In that year, one American out of every five owned a car, compared to one out of every 37 English and one out of every 40 French car owners.

— Digital History, University of Houston

Which was one important way these events changed American society?

- A. Freedom and mobility increased.
- B. Competition among businesses decreased.
- C. Investment in infrastructure declined.
- D. Population density in rural areas increased.

How did the Harlem Renaissance most contribute to the Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 1960s?

- A. by bringing public awareness to segregation in the military
- B. by electing African Americans to serve in government
- C. by beginning the process of abolishing discriminatory laws
- D. by promoting African-American culture as a source of pride

How did the flappers of the 1920s most contribute to societal change in the United States?

- A. by practicing civil disobedience
- B. by promoting racial equality
- C. by supporting nativist policies
- D. by challenging cultural norms

The text describes the accomplishments of Ida B. Wells-Barnett

Ida B. Wells-Barnett was a fearless . . . crusader, suffragist, women's rights advocate, journalist, and speaker of international stature. . . .

It was in Memphis where she first began to fight for racial and gender justice. In 1884, she was asked by the conductor of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Company to give up her seat on the train to a white man. . . . Despite the 1875 Civil Rights Act banning discrimination on the basis of race, creed, or color in theaters, hotels, transports, and other public accommodations, several railroad companies defied the law and continued to segregate their passengers.

Wells refused to budge. . . . The conductor forcibly removed Wells from the train — to the applause of white passengers. When Wells returned to Memphis, she immediately hired an attorney and sued the railroad for mistreatment. She won her case in local court but the railroad company appealed to the Supreme Court of Tennessee, and it reversed the lower court's ruling. . . . From that moment forward, Wells worked tirelessly and fearlessly to fight gender and race-based injustice and violence.

Wells' suit against the railroad company also sparked her career as a journalist. . . . This enabled Wells to leave her teaching job and support herself as a writer, editor, and later speaker both in the U.S. and abroad. . . .

Wells continued her muckraking and investigative journalism until her newspaper office was destroyed in retaliation. Wells could not return to Memphis, so she moved to Chicago, where she could pursue her journalistic endeavors. . . .

In Chicago, Wells also helped develop numerous African-American women's and reform organizations. Throughout, she remained committed to her anti-lynching crusade, publishing the pamphlet Southern Horrors: Lynch Law in All Its Phases (1892), with her image emblazoned on the cover. . . .

In 1906, she joined with W.E.B. Du Bois and others to further the Niagara Movement, an African-American civil rights movement that opposed racial segregation, disenfranchisement, and the conciliatory strategy favored by other black activists such as Booker T. Washington. Wells-Barnett was one of two African American women to sign "the call" to form the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) in 1909, becoming one of the organization's founding members.

— "Making Their Mark: Black Women Leaders"

(Continued on the next page)

According to this excerpt, which event initially led Ida B. Wells-Barnett to fight against injustice?

- A. She witnessed mistreatment of her childhood friends.
- B. She experienced discrimination by a railroad and brought a lawsuit.
- C. She taught school in inadequate conditions.
- D. She moved to Chicago and was given a job on a local newspaper.

Which reason led to the 1925 prosecution of John Scopes in Dayton, Tennessee?

- A. a belief that radical philosophies would threaten political stability
- B. a concern that federal laws would undermine freedom of speech
- C. a concern that scientific theories would undermine traditional values
- D. a belief that alcohol consumption would threaten the stability of families

The source describes Prohibition.

Prohibition allowed many gangsters to make millions of dollars through illegal alcohol sales, and Al Capone was most notorious for this. By the end of the decade, Capone controlled over 10,000 speakeasies in Chicago, and basically ruled the bootlegging business from Canada to Florida.

— Eric Szandzik, "Al Capone"

According to the source, an unintended consequence of Prohibition was

- A. the popularity of rock and roll music.
- B. an increase in church membership.
- C. increased strength of organized crime.
- D. support for laissez-faire government policies.

The outline below is about the U.S. economy in the 1920s.

○	I. ?
	A. Automobile manufacturers offer loans.
	B. Banks provide home mortgages.
	C. Retailers allow purchases using installment plans.

Which heading best completes the outline?

- A. Expansion of credit use in the U.S. economy
- B. Effect of suburban growth on the U.S. economy
- C. Impact of the stock market on the U.S. economy
- D. Intervention by the government in the U.S. economy

Which factor contributed to the severity of the Great Depression?

- A. Companies failed to produce enough merchandise.
- B. Individuals purchased stocks with borrowed money.
- C. Workers went on strike to stop production.
- D. Real estate prices became overly inflated.

The photographs depict an event that happened in the 1930s.

The Great Plains in the 1930s

Source: NOAA

Source: NOAA

Which statement best describes an immediate consequence of the problem shown in these photographs?

- A. Farmers began to join labor unions.
- B. Farmers were forced to migrate to find work.
- C. Import taxes on agricultural goods were lowered.
- D. Government agencies began to provide loans to farmers.

Which of these contributed most to the creation of Hoovervilles during the Great Depression?

- A. widespread unemployment
- B. mass migrations to rural areas
- C. the collapse of public relief agencies
- D. the passage of economic recovery measures

The image below depicts an advertisement for a protest.

Source: Library of Congress

How did President Herbert Hoover respond to this protest?

- A. by creating a government agency for veterans
- B. by ordering military forces to remove the veterans
- C. by renegotiating the terms of the bonus with the participants
- D. by demanding that the legislature expedite bonus payments

What impact did the Agricultural Adjustment Act have on the Great Depression?

- A. It reduced the price of farmland.
- B. It helped increase crop prices.
- C. It provided low interest loans to ranchers.
- D. It established a minimum wage for farmers.

How did President Franklin Roosevelt respond to U.S. Supreme Court decisions overturning New Deal legislation in the 1930s?

- A. by proposing to fire any justice who opposed his legislation
- B. by proposing to reduce the size of the court to seven justices
- C. by proposing to give the executive branch veto power over the decisions of justices
- D. by proposing to appoint an additional justice for every justice over seventy years of age

Which means did Adolf Hitler use to gain power before World War II?

- A. He capitalized on a robust German economy and international respect.
- B. He relied on widespread discontent and extreme nationalism.
- C. He relied on the support of labor unions and business interests.
- D. He was considered by most countries as preferable to communism.

The source is adapted from a speech given by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940.

But all of our present efforts are not enough. We must have more ships, more guns, more planes — more of everything. And this can be accomplished only if we discard the notion of “business as usual.” This job cannot be done merely by superimposing on the existing productive facilities the added requirements of the nation for defense. . . . I am confident that if and when production of consumer or luxury goods in certain industries requires the use of machines and raw materials that are essential for defense purposes, then such production must yield, and will gladly yield, to our primary and compelling purpose.

. . . As planes and ships and guns and shells are produced, your government, with its defense experts, can then determine how best to use them to defend this hemisphere. The decision as to how much shall be sent abroad and how much shall remain at home must be made on the basis of our overall military necessities.

We must be the great arsenal of democracy.

— President Franklin D. Roosevelt, December 29, 1940

In this part of his speech, President Roosevelt asked Congress to support which proposal?

- A. to provide military supplies to nations under Lend-Lease agreements
- B. to increase military production in preparation for an armed invasion
- C. to sell military supplies to nations on the basis of cash and carry
- D. to encourage businesses to profit from its military production capabilities

Prior to entering World War II, which action did the United States take in response to the treatment of Jews in Europe?

- A. applied strong diplomatic pressure
- B. accepted a very limited number of refugees
- C. called for international economic sanctions
- D. supported resistance movements with supplies

The excerpt is from address given by President Franklin Roosevelt in 1941.

Yesterday, December 7, 1941 — a date which will live in infamy — the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan.

— President Franklin Roosevelt, Address to a Joint Session of Congress, 1941

What was the primary objective of this attack?

- A. to start preparations for the Japanese invasion of the continental United States
- B. to limit the ability of the United States military to respond to Japanese aggression
- C. to occupy a strategic military base in the Pacific to allow for further Japanese expansion
- D. to prevent the United States from joining the war in Europe by provoking a conflict in the Pacific

Which World War II action occurred under the leadership of General Douglas MacArthur?

- A. the liberation of the Philippines
- B. the invasion into North Africa
- C. the victory at Normandy
- D. the occupation of Berlin

The excerpt describes a battle that occurred in World War II.

In numerous and widespread engagements lasting from the 3rd to 6th of June, with carrier based planes as the spearhead of the attack, combined forces of the Navy, Marine Corps and Army in the Hawaiian Area defeated a large part of the Japanese fleet and frustrated the enemy's powerful move against Midway that was undoubtedly the keystone of larger plans.

— Admiral Chester Nimitz, June 1942

Which statement best explains the importance of this action during World War II?

- A. The United States captured a vital Japanese naval base in the Pacific.
- B. The United States stopped Japanese advancement in the Pacific.
- C. The victory enabled U.S. forces to recapture the Philippines from Japan.
- D. The victory forced the Japanese to accept the U.S. terms of surrender.

For which contribution are Navajo soldiers most remembered during World War II?

- A. fighting bravely in a pivotal battle
- B. successfully defending a strategic location
- C. developing an undetectable technique for spying
- D. developing an unbreakable code for communication

The poster below is from the 1940s.

Source: Library of Congress

What was the main purpose of posters such as this during World War II?

- A. to recruit women for combat duty
- B. to encourage enrollment in vocational schools
- C. to ensure that rationing was strictly enforced
- D. to encourage women to join the workforce

Why did President Franklin Roosevelt create the Fair Employment Practices Committee during World War II?

- A. to ensure that government contractors paid adequate wages for women
- B. to ensure that government contractors avoided racial discrimination in hiring
- C. to ensure that government contractors provided a safe working environment
- D. to ensure that government contractors avoided excessive overtime for workers

The excerpt is from a dissenting opinion in a landmark Supreme Court case.

[Fred] Korematsu was born on our soil, of parents born in Japan. The Constitution makes him a citizen of the United States by nativity (birth), and a citizen of California by residence. No claim is made that he is not loyal to this country. There is no suggestion that, apart from the matter involved here, he is not law-abiding and well disposed (well behaved). Korematsu, however, has been convicted of an act not commonly a crime. It consists merely of being present in the state whereof he is a citizen, near the place where he was born, and where all his life he has lived.

— U.S. Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, Dissenting Opinion, Fred Korematsu v. United States, 1944

Which government action is Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson criticizing in this dissent?

- A. the discrimination against soldiers based on race
- B. the denial of the naturalization process to immigrants
- C. the refusal to allow refugees into America
- D. the internment of Americans based on ethnicity

What was the purpose of the Bracero program during World War II?

- A. alleviating a shortage in farm labor
- B. promoting an international alliance
- C. increasing the size of the draft pool
- D. preventing the danger of espionage

The statement below was made on August 14, 1945.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT has recommended, and I have approved, a request to the Director of Selective Service to reduce inductions immediately from 80,000 to 50,000 per month. This figure will provide only sufficient men to support the forces required for occupational duty and to permit the relief of long-service men overseas to the maximum extent transportation makes possible. . . .

Transportation by air and sea should make possible the release from the Army of five to five and a half million men during the next twelve to eighteen months. It is too early to propose definite figures for the occupation forces which will be required in the Pacific twelve months from now or what reduction it may be possible to make in the strength of the Army force now allotted to occupation duties in Europe. It is apparent, however, that we can release as many men as can be brought home by the means available during the next year.

- Source: Public Domain/Public Papers of the Presidents

Which action by President Harry Truman led to this order to bring U.S. troops home?

- A. planning the invasion of occupied territory
- B. making the decision to use a new technology
- C. leading the forces that surrounded the enemy
- D. initiating the creation of a new domestic policy

At the 1945 Potsdam Conference, why did Allied leaders agree to divide Germany into four zones of occupation?

- A. to secure free trade with Germany
- B. to oversee the demilitarization of Germany
- C. to conduct trials against war criminals from Germany
- D. to restore former government officials to power in Germany

What was a major achievement of Cordell Hull as U.S. secretary of state?

- A. He worked to create the United Nations.
- B. He planned and supervised the Normandy Invasion.
- C. He coordinated and flew the Berlin Airlift.
- D. He worked on the Manhattan Project.

The source describes the creation of an international organization.

In September of 1954, the United States, France, Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan formed the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, or SEATO. The purpose of the organization was to prevent communism from gaining ground in the region.

— Office of the Historian, U.S. Department of State

According to the source, how did SEATO contribute to the superpower competition between the United States and the Soviet Union?

- A. by supplying Asian countries with nuclear weapons
- B. by strengthening the members' efforts to promote democracy
- C. by attempting to protect human rights in Asian countries
- D. by demonstrating the need for free trade agreements

Which action illustrates the U.S. foreign policy of containment?

- A. reaching an agreement with the Soviets to limit nuclear weapon development
- B. organizing a direct military attack on the Soviet Union to overthrow the premier
- C. providing economic assistance to European countries to counter Soviet influence
- D. forming new alliances with European countries after the collapse of the Soviet Union

The excerpt is from a speaker at a Congressional hearing.

I want to speak here as a writer and a citizen. . . .

My political and social views are well known. My deep faith in the motion picture as a popular art is also well known. I don't "sneak ideas" into pictures. I never make a contract to write a picture unless I am convinced that it serves democracy and the interests of the American people. I will never permit what I write and think to be subject to the orders of self-appointed dictators, ambitious politicians, . . . or any other form of censorship this Un-American Committee may attempt to devise. . . . Pictures written by me have been seen and approved by millions of Americans. A subpoena for me is a subpoena for all those who have enjoyed these pictures and recognized them as an honest portrayal of our American life.

Thus, my integrity as a writer is obviously an integral part of my integrity as a citizen. As a citizen I am not alone here. I am not only one of nineteen men who have been subpoenaed. I am forced to appear here as a representative of one hundred and thirty million Americans because the illegal conduct of this Committee has linked me with every citizen. If I can be destroyed no American is safe. You can subpoena a farmer in a field, a lumberjack in the woods, a worker at a machine, a doctor in his office — you can deprive them of a livelihood, deprive them of their honor as Americans.

Let no one think that this is an idle or thoughtless statement. This is the course that the Un-American Activities Committee has charted. Millions of Americans who may as yet be unconscious of what may be in store for them will find that the warning I speak today is literally fulfilled. No American will be safe if the Committee is not stopped in its illegal enterprise.

—Screenwriter John Howard Lawson, U.S. Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities, Hearings Regarding the Communist Infiltration of the Motion Picture Industry

Which period of U.S. history is associated with this source?

- A. the anti-Vietnam War movement
- B. the reform movement during the Progressive Era
- C. the Red Scare during the Cold War
- D. the Reagan Revolution

The image depicts a political theory.

The Domino Theory

Why did this theory become the basis of U.S. foreign policy decisions during the Cold War?

- A. One by one these countries were building nuclear weapons.
- B. The Soviet Union planned to depose dictators in these Asian countries.
- C. The United States feared the spread of communism in these Asian countries.
- D. One by one these countries were boycotting U.S. goods.

The excerpt is from a speech given by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A vital element in keeping the peace is our military establishment. Our arms must be mighty, ready for instant action, so that no potential aggressor may be tempted to risk his own destruction.

Until the latest of our world conflicts, the United States had no armaments industry. American makers of plowshares could, with time and as required, make swords as well. But now we can no longer risk emergency improvisation of national defense; we have been compelled to create a permanent armaments industry of vast proportions. Added to this, three and a half million men and women are directly engaged in the defense establishment. We annually spend on military security more than the net income of all United States corporations.

— President Dwight D. Eisenhower, January 17, 1961

Which foreign policy is described by President Eisenhower in this source?

- A. brinkmanship
- B. domino theory
- C. isolationism
- D. detente

The excerpt describes a historic event that occurred in 1952.

Moscow, Saturday, Oct. 5 — The Soviet Union announced this morning that it successfully launched a man-made earth satellite into space yesterday.

The Russians calculated the satellite's orbit at a maximum of 560 miles above the earth and its speed at 18,000 miles an hour.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the artificial moon, with a diameter of twenty-two inches and a weight of 184 pounds, was circling the earth once every hour and thirty-five minutes. This means more than fifteen times a day.

Two radio transmitters, Tass said, are sending signals continuously. . . . These signals were said to be strong enough to be picked up by amateur radio operators. The trajectory of the satellite is being tracked by numerous scientific stations.

Due Over Moscow Today

Tass said the satellite . . . would pass over the Moscow area twice today.

"Its flight," the announcement added, "will be observed in the rays of the rising and setting sun with the aid of the simplest optical instruments, such as binoculars and spy-glasses."

The Soviet Union said the world's first satellite was "successfully launched" yesterday. Thus it asserted that it had put a scientific instrument into space before the United States. Washington has disclosed plans to launch a satellite next spring.

Five Miles a Second

The rocket that carried the satellite into space left the earth at a rate of five miles a second, the Tass announcement said. Nothing was revealed, however, concerning the material of which the man-made moon was constructed or the site in the Soviet Union where the sphere was launched.

The Soviet Union said its sphere circling the earth had opened the way to inter-planetary travel.

It did not pass up the opportunity to use the launching for propaganda purposes. It said in its announcement that people now could see how "the new socialist society" had turned the boldest dreams of mankind into reality.

Moscow said the satellite was the result of years of study and research on the part of Soviet scientists.

— The New York Times, 1952

(Continued on next page)

What was the U.S. response to the event reported in this source?

- A. reduction of carbon pollution
- B. invasion of the Soviet Union
- C. support for space programs
- D. escalation of the Cuban Missile Crisis

What prompted the U.S. government to support a planned invasion of Cuba in 1961?

- A. Cuban revolutionaries had seized U.S. resources in the region.
- B. Cuban revolutionaries had threatened to attack the United States.
- C. The new Cuban government had launched nuclear missiles in the region.
- D. The new Cuban government had established a relationship with a communist state.

The source is the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as Commander in Chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression.

— Tonkin Gulf Resolution, 1964

Which event contributed to the passage of this resolution?

- A. a secret invasion of Cambodia
- B. the fall of Saigon to the North Vietnamese
- C. a North Vietnamese attack on a U.S. ship
- D. the launch of the Tet Offensive

The excerpt is from an address by President Richard M. Nixon.

For 4 years American boys have been fighting and dying. . . . For 12 months our negotiators have been talking with the other side in Paris. And yet the fighting goes on. The destruction continues. Brave men still die.

The time has come for some new initiatives. Repeating the old formulas and the tired rhetoric of the past is not enough. When Americans are risking their lives in war, it is the responsibility of their leaders to take some risks for peace.

— President Richard M. Nixon, 1969

Which foreign policy was signaled by President Nixon's statement?

- A. support for democracy in Indonesia
- B. resolution to send U.S. troops to Korea
- C. support for anticommunist forces in China
- D. reduction of the number of U.S. troops in Vietnam

The text describes a historic event.

A lottery drawing — the first since 1942 — was held on December 1, 1969, at Selective Service National Headquarters in Washington, D.C. This event determined the order of call for induction during calendar year 1970; that is, for registrants born between January 1, 1944, and December 31, 1950. Reinstitution of the lottery was a change from the “draft the oldest man first” method, which had been the determining method for deciding order of call.

— Selective Service System, The Vietnam Lotteries

Which unexpected social consequence resulted from this change in the draft?

- A. The military draft was declared unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court.
- B. The military draft played a major role in causing unrest on college campuses.
- C. The new policy caused many young Americans to support the war effort.
- D. Female recruits were given preference on assignments within the armed services.

Which best describes a major goal of the “space race” that the United States wanted to reach before the Soviet Union?

- A. establish a military shuttle program
- B. launch a military satellite system
- C. complete a manned moon mission
- D. construct a manned orbital space station

The photograph is of the signing of the INF Treaty in 1987.

President Ronald Reagan and General Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev
Signing the INF Treaty, 1987

Source: Courtesy of the Ronald Reagan Library

This agreement demonstrated the concern of the superpowers about

- A. the growth of terrorism and unrest in the Middle East.
- B. the effects of global climate change.
- C. the reunification of East Germany and West Germany.
- D. the production of nuclear weapons.

The graph shows employment trends in the United States during the mid-20th century.

Source: Public Domain

How did the trend shown in the graph impact society during the 1950s?

- A. It decreased the influence of unions.
- B. It decreased the population in suburbs.
- C. It increased the size of the middle class.
- D. It increased the need for financial credit.

What was one major effect of the baby boom of 1946 – 1964 on the United States?

- A. decrease in environmental regulations
- B. growth of consumer culture
- C. slowing of technological innovation
- D. increase in unemployment rate

The excerpt below is from a federal law passed in 1956.

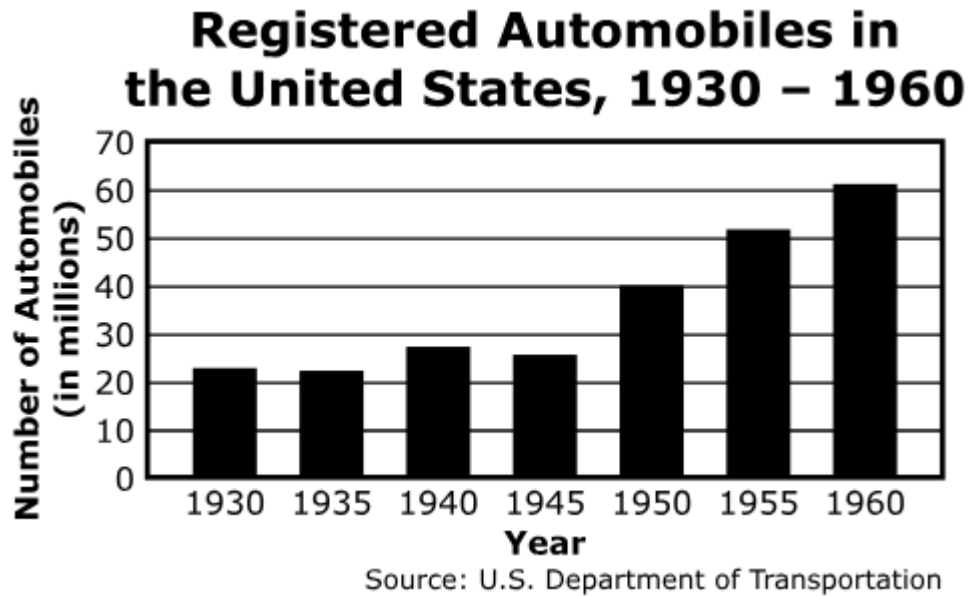

It is hereby declared to be essential to the national interest to provide for the early completion of the "National System of Interstate Highways." . . . It is the intent of the Congress that the Interstate System be completed as nearly as practicable over a thirteen-year period and that the entire System in all the States be brought to simultaneous completion. Because of its primary importance to the national defense, the name of such system is hereby changed to the "National System of Interstate and Defense Highways." Such National System of Interstate and Defense Highways is hereinafter . . . referred to as the "Interstate System."

- Source: Public Domain/ourdocuments.gov

How did this law directly impact the United States in the 1950s and 1960s?

- A. It encouraged women to work in new places.
- B. It helped married couples purchase new homes.
- C. It encouraged businesses to expand into new areas.
- D. It helped government officials integrate new schools.

The graph displays information about automobile use in the United States.

What was a result of the trend shown in the source?

- A. a dramatic increase in consumer prices
- B. a significant decline in the cost of living
- C. a growth in suburban population
- D. a decrease in the amount of exported goods

The excerpt below is from a commentary about the 1960 presidential election.

During the 1960 debates between the two candidates, Americans for the first time could tune in and watch the debates on television, or listen on the radio.

About 70 million people tuned in to watch the Kennedy/Nixon debates. . . . Nixon had refused makeup for the cameras, wore an ill-fitting shirt, and hadn't gained back his natural weight after a serious knee injury and two weeks in the hospital. Kennedy, on the other hand, had been campaigning in southern California and appeared on camera with a healthy tan.

The story has it that those Americans who tuned in over the radio believed the two candidates were evenly matched, but tended to think Nixon had won the debates. But those 70 million who watched the candidates on the television believed Kennedy was the clear victor.

While there aren't any qualified statistics to back up this claim, what is certain is that Kennedy took a leap in the polls after the debate.

Source: Public Domain/U.S. National Archives and Records Administration

Based on this excerpt, how did technology affect the development of U.S. politics by the 1960s?

- A. The professional qualifications of candidates became more important.
- B. The personal appearance of candidates became more influential.
- C. Campaign advertisements became more influential.
- D. Campaign fund raising became more important.

Which type of music did Sun Studios in Memphis help popularize in the 1950s?

- A. folk
- B. swing
- C. rock 'n' roll
- D. rhythm and blues

The list below identifies the recipients of several federal grants issued during President John F. Kennedy's administration.

Federal Grants Issued During Kennedy Administration

- American Printing House for the Blind
- educators of the Deaf
- personnel helping children with speech impairments

Based on the information, which was a major goal of the Kennedy administration?

- A. providing financial assistance to students in all parts of the world
- B. preparing teachers for assignments in all areas of education
- C. expanding educational opportunities for all populations
- D. increasing financial aid to all minorities

Which statement explains why Brown v. Board of Education was a landmark Supreme Court case?

- A. It contributed to the dismantling of segregation in many states.
- B. It contributed to the dismantling of labor unions in many states.
- C. It began to improve the transportation system in most cities.
- D. It began to improve job opportunities in most cities.

The excerpt below is about an event from the civil rights movement.

On December 1, 1955, [Rosa] Parks, a department store seamstress, boarded a bus for home. The seats filled up, with blacks in back rows and whites in front. When a white man boarded, four black passengers, including Parks, were asked to get up and stand in back. Three complied; Parks refused. She subsequently was arrested.

Source: Public Domain/U.S. Department of State

How did the African-American community respond to this event?

- A. by organizing sit-ins on buses in Greensboro, North Carolina
- B. by organizing a boycott of the bus system in Montgomery, Alabama
- C. by planning a protest march against the bus system in Washington, D.C.
- D. by planning rides on national bus lines to challenge segregation in Atlanta, Georgia

What were two goals of the March on Washington in 1963?

- A. recovering property acquired through eminent domain
- B. establishing fair employment policies
- C. preventing the use of the military draft
- D. desegregating the military
- E. promoting adoption of civil rights legislation

What was the main purpose of the 24th Amendment?

- A. to protect the right of all citizens to vote
- B. to guarantee freedom of speech
- C. to increase government revenue
- D. to limit the authority of the executive branch

The first excerpt below describes the Chicano Movement and the second excerpt describes the American Indian Movement.

In post–World War II America, Americans of Mexican and Puerto Rican descent had faced discrimination. New immigrants, coming from Cuba, Mexico, and Central America—often unskilled and unable to speak English—suffered from discrimination as well. Some Hispanics worked as farm laborers and at times were cruelly exploited while harvesting crops; others gravitated to the cities, where, like earlier immigrant groups, they encountered difficulties in their quest for a better life.

Chicanos, or Mexican-Americans, mobilized in organizations like Asociación Nacional Mexico-Americana, yet did not become confrontational until the 1960s. Hoping that Lyndon Johnson’s poverty program would expand opportunities for them, they found that bureaucrats failed to respond to less vocal groups. The example of black activism in particular taught Hispanics the importance of pressure politics in a pluralistic society.

The National Labor Relations Act of 1935 had excluded agricultural workers from its guarantee of the right to organize and bargain collectively. But César Chávez, founder of the overwhelmingly Hispanic United Farm Workers, demonstrated that direct action could achieve employer recognition for his union. California grape growers agreed to bargain with the union after Chávez led a nationwide consumer boycott. Similar boycotts of lettuce and other products were also successful. Though farm interests continued to try to obstruct Chávez’s organization, the legal foundation had been laid for representation to secure higher wages and improved working conditions.

Source: Public Domain/U.S. Department of State

In the 1950s, Native Americans struggled with the government’s policy of moving them off reservations and into cities where they might assimilate into mainstream America. . . . In 1961, when the policy was discontinued, the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights noted that, for Native Americans, “poverty and deprivation are common.”

In the 1960s and 1970s, watching both the development of Third World nationalism and the progress of the civil rights movement, Native Americans became more aggressive in pressing for their own rights. A new generation of leaders went to court to protect what was left of tribal lands or to recover those which had been taken, often illegally, in previous times. In state after state, they challenged treaty violations, and in 1967 won the first of many victories guaranteeing long-abused land and water rights. The American Indian Movement (AIM), founded in 1968, helped channel government funds to Native-American-controlled organizations and assisted neglected Native Americans in the cities.

Source: Public Domain/U.S. Department of State

(Continued on next page)

Based on the excerpts, in which way were these two movements similar?

- A. Both sought government recognition of their unique cultural identities.
- B. Both sought government recognition of natural resource rights.
- C. Both were inspired by the strategies of other minority groups.
- D. Both were interested in better employment rights.

The excerpt is from a presidential address given by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

We must provide hospital insurance for our older citizens financed by every worker and his employer under Social Security, contributing no more than $1 a month during the employee's working career to protect him in his old age in a dignified manner without cost to the Treasury, against the devastating hardship of prolonged or repeated illness.

— President Lyndon B. Johnson, State of the Union Address, 1964

What was the main result of the program proposed in this source?

- A. to provide healthcare for the older Americans
- B. to prevent the spread of infectious diseases
- C. to expand the development of rural hospitals
- D. to reduce the number of prescriptions for older Americans

The excerpt below describes a historic site.

[It] has become a symbol of the idealism of those who came of age in the 1960s and believed that they could together challenge oppression and injustice — end the Vietnam War, . . . and provide an alternative to corporate America. . . . [It] is recognized by cultural historians, music historians, and large numbers of American citizens who came of age in the 1960s as a defining event in the history of the post-World War II era.

— Application form for the National Register of Historic Places

Which site is described in this application for historical status?

- A. Selma as a symbol of the Civil Rights Movement
- B. Kent State as a symbol of the peace movement
- C. Woodstock as a symbol of the counterculture movement
- D. Alcatraz as a symbol of the American Indian Movement

Which statement describes the group President Nixon referred to as the “silent majority”?

- A. Citizens whom he believed supported the new relationship with China but did not vote.
- B. Citizens whom he believed supported talks with the Soviet Union but were ignored by the media.
- C. Citizens whom he believed supported the continuation of the war in Vietnam but did not speak out publically.
- D. Citizens whom he believed supported intervention in the Middle East but were ignored by their representatives.

Which statement best summarizes the importance of the U.S. Supreme Court decision in United States v. Nixon?

- A. The ruling determined that the right of the president to veto legislation was limited.
- B. The constitutional power of the president to command the armed forces was confirmed.
- C. The ruling determined that the executive authority of the president was limited.
- D. The constitutional authority of the president to appoint foreign ambassadors was confirmed.

Which issue gained national prominence after an incident at Three Mile Island in 1979?

- A. the hazards of nuclear energy
- B. the effects of chemical wastes
- C. the dangers of offshore drilling
- D. the impacts of chemical pesticides

During President Jimmy Carter's administration, which foreign-policy events were both related to instability in the Middle East?

- A. SALT II Treaty and Camp David Accords
- B. Panama Canal Treaty and the SALT II Treaty
- C. Iran Hostage Crisis and Panama Canal Treaty
- D. Camp David Accords and the Iran Hostage Crisis

What was the purpose of President Ronald Reagan's proposed Strategic Defense Initiative?

- A. to gather sensitive data
- B. to intercept ballistic missiles
- C. to decrease military spending
- D. to improve international relations

The list below includes a series of events that occurred in the Middle East.

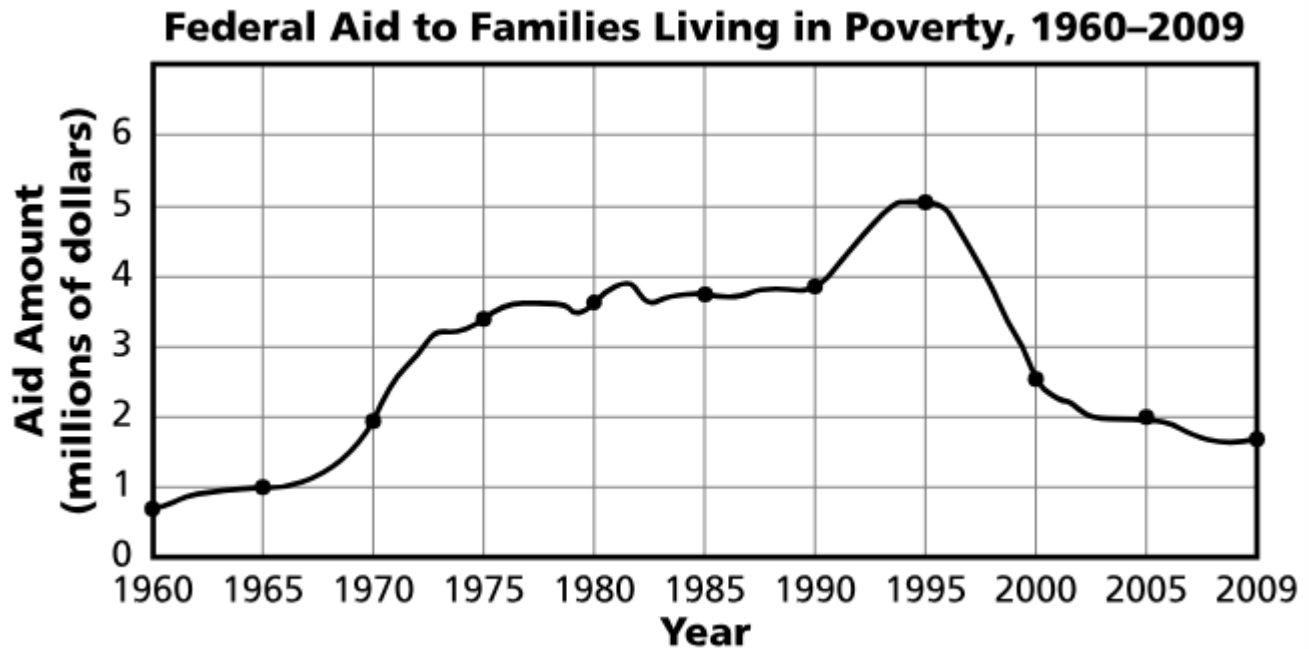

Series of Events

- Iraqi President Saddam Hussein demands Kuwait cancel the Iraqi debt.
- Kuwait rejects Iraqi demands.
- Iraqi troops invade Kuwait and control the country in a matter of hours.

In response to these events, which action was taken by President George H.W. Bush?

- A. organization of an international boycott of OPEC
- B. organization of an international coalition to free Kuwait
- C. deployment of U.S. military troops to Israel
- D. occupation of Iraq by United Nations forces

The graph below is based on data published by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the chart provides the names of U.S. presidents for the period shown on the graph.

Source 1

Source: Public Domain

Source 2

U.S. Presidents, 1961 – 2009

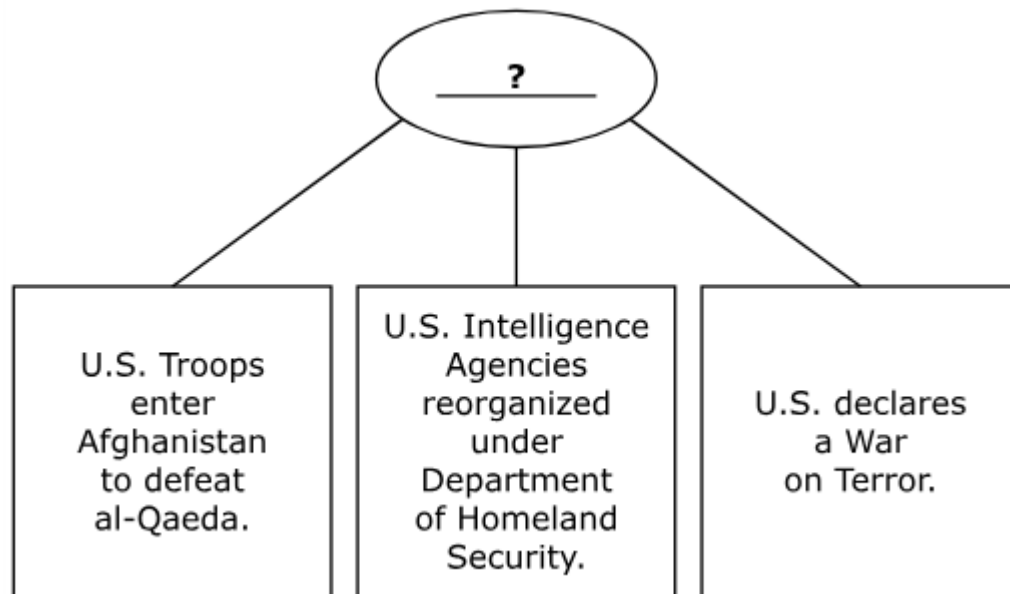

President	Dates of Service
John F. Kennedy	1961 – 1963
Lyndon B. Johnson	1963 – 1969
Richard Nixon	1969 – 1974
Gerald Ford	1974 – 1977
Jimmy Carter	1977 – 1981
Ronald Reagan	1981 – 1989
George H. W. Bush	1989 – 1993
Bill Clinton	1993 – 2001
George W. Bush	2001 – 2009

(Continued on next page)

Based on the information and your content knowledge, which statement best explains the dramatic decline shown on the graph?

- A. Foreign policy demands during the Johnson administration limited funds to provide social-welfare benefits.
- B. Tax cuts during the Reagan administration caused contractions in spending on social-welfare benefits.
- C. Economic growth during the George H. W. Bush administration reduced the demand for social-welfare benefits.
- D. Congressional action during the Clinton administration tightened the qualifications to receive social-welfare benefits.

The diagram lists a series of effects from a historic event.

Which event completes this source?

- A. Saddam Hussein invades Kuwait.
- B. Terrorists attack the World Trade Center.
- C. Arab Spring spreads across the Middle East.
- D. Iran Hostage Crisis begins.

How did Condoleezza Rice aid the United States during her time in the first administration of President George W. Bush?

- A. by advising the executive branch about national security
- B. by serving in the U.S. Senate and heading a committee
- C. by arguing cases before the U.S. Supreme Court
- D. by heading the agency that deals with airport security

Which development at the end of the 20th century most revolutionized communication?

- A. U.S. government regulation of telephone services
- B. privatization of the U.S. Postal Service
- C. rate reductions in the cable industry
- D. invention of the World Wide Web

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, known as “Obamacare,” signed into law in 2010, had which major effect?

- A. It nationalized much of the health care industry.
- B. It financed the expansion of health care facilities.
- C. It expanded individual access to health care insurance.
- D. It established wage regulations for health care workers.

Metadata- Social Studies Items

Page Number	Item Type	Key	TN Standards
1	MC	D	US.01
2	MC	C	US.02
3-4	MC	C	US.03
5	MC	B	US.04
6	MC	D	US.05
7	MC	C	US.06
8	MC	C	US.07
9	MC	A	US.08
10	MC	C	US.09
11	MC	B	US.10
12	MC	D	US.11
13	MC	A	US.12
14	MC	A	US.13
15	MC	B	US.14
16	MC	B	US.15
17	MS	A,C	US.16
18	MC	D	US.17
19	MC	C	US.18
20	MC	A	US.19
21-22	MC	D	US.20
23	MC	C	US.21
24	MC	C	US.22
25	MC	D	US.23
26	MC	B	US.24
27	MC	B	US.25
28	MC	B	US.26
29	MC	D	US.27
30	MC	A	US.28
31	MC	C	US.29
32	MC	D	US.30
33	MC	C	US.31
34	MC	A	US.32
35	MC	D	US.33
36	MC	D	US.34
37-38	MC	B	US.35

Page Number	Item Type	Key	TN Standards
39	MC	C	US.36
40	MC	C	US.37
41	MC	A	US.38
42	MC	B	US.39
43	MC	B	US.40
44	MC	A	US.41
45	MC	B	US.42
46	MC	B	US.43
47	MC	D	US.44
48	MC	B	US.45
49	MC	A	US.46
50	MC	B	US.47
51	MC	B	US.48
52	MC	A	US.49
53	MC	B	US.50
54	MC	D	US.51
55	MC	D	US.52
56	MC	B	US.53
57	MC	D	US.54
58	MC	A	US.55
59	MC	B	US.56
60	MC	B	US.57
61	MC	A	US.58
62	MC	B	US.59
63	MC	C	US.60
64	MC	C	US.61
65	MC	C	US.62
66	MC	A	US.63
67-68	MC	C	US.64
69	MC	D	US.65
70	MC	C	US.66
71	MC	D	US.67
72	MC	B	US.68
73	MC	C	US.69
74	MC	D	US.70
75	MC	C	US.71

Page Number	Item Type	Key	TN Standards
76	MC	B	US.72
77	MC	C	US.73
78	MC	C	US.74
79	MC	B	US.75
80	MC	C	US.76
81	MC	C	US.77
82	MC	A	US.78
83	MC	B	US.79
84	MS	B,E	US.80
85	MC	A	US.81
86-87	MC	C	US.82
88	MC	A	US.83
89	MC	C	US.84
90	MC	C	US.85
91	MC	C	US.86
92	MC	A	US.87
93	MC	D	US.88
94	MC	B	US.89
95	MC	B	US.90
96-97	MC	D	US.91
98	MC	B	US.92
99	MC	A	US.93
100	MC	D	US.94
101	MC	C	US.95
Metadata Definitions
Item Type	Indicates the type of item. MC= Multiple Choice; MS= Multiple Select
Key	Correct answer.
TN Standards	Primary educational standard assessed.		